WORLD COURT ENTRY NOW IS HELD CERTAIN

Senate Approval Expected, Although Not Without Bitter Struggle

MOST ISSUES SETTLED

Elihu Root's Formula Did Much to Settle Points of Controversy

Washington—(AP)—Opposition to the new plan for American entry into the world court, as determined as that which met the original proposal for the adherence of the Washington government, is developing in the senate.

The group of senators that three years ago voted against the United States becoming allied with the international tribunal, even under the reservations then attached, is apparently as much dissatisfied with the new arrangement as it was with the old.

How much of a factor in the senate's final vote this opposition will be, of course, remains to be determined, but notice has been given by the group that the modification of the court's rules of procedure, affected in an effort to facilitate American entry, is unacceptable.

Washington—More than ten years have passed since President Wilson signed the league of nations covenant in behalf of the United States and yesterday in Geneva the signature of the Washington government was attached to documents which provide for membership in the permanent court of international justice.

Again the senate must ratify before the signature will be binding. But the last four years the debate of the United States has been narrowed down to a question of American's right to withdraw in case an opinion was ever asked by the league of nations on a matter in which the United States claimed an interest and hence did not wish the subject taken up by the league.

Reservations by the senate had been attached before, but they required adherence by all the other powers and Elihu Root worked out a formula which satisfied the members of the world court and at the same time appeased most of the objections of members of the senate.

Ratification therefore appears to be assured. There are signs, however, that it will not be without a struggle. The irreconcilables are fewer in number than they used to be, but not less aggressive. William Randolph Hearst, who has been supporting Mr. Hoover right along, takes issue with him now on the world court. The irreconcilables insist that the world court is a part of the league.

SNOOK CASE BEFORE OHIO SUPREME COURT

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—The appeal of Dr. James Howard Snook, former Ohio State university veterinary professor, to set aside his recent conviction of the murder of Theodor K. Hix, his co-ed mistress, was up before the state supreme court for argument today.

The move involved a two-day appeal planned by Dr. Snook's attorneys to escape the death penalty, scheduled to be carried out at the state penitentiary Dec. 23.

The first of two defense motions seeks the right for a review before the state supreme court on the allegation that Dr. Snook did not have a fair trial and that the appellate court erred in not granting a reversal.

The second motion opens the way for an appeal to the supreme court of the United States in the event that all hope is lost in the state courts. This is for a petition in error, which is for a petition in error, which is for a petition in error.

CASTLE NAMED SPECIAL AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover will send the nomination of William R. Castle, assistant secretary of state, to the senate shortly to be confirmed as a special ambassador to Japan while the London naval limitations conference is in progress.

As soon as the naval conference is over, Castle will return to his post in the state department. He will meet the Japanese delegation to the London conference when it comes to Washington enroute to London and then will proceed to his post as soon as he has been confirmed.

2 GET LONG TERMS FOR OWNING HALF PINT OF WHISKY

Towanda, Pa.—(AP)—Evidence consisting of less than a half pint of whisky found in the wall of his store has resulted in George Vogel, of Towanda, being sentenced to serve three years in the county jail and to pay a $5,000 fine and costs.

The decision was handed down by Judge Charles M. Culber, who also sentenced Vogel's sister, Ruby, to serve one year and pay $1,000 fine and costs for violation of the prohibition law.

Federal prohibition agents testified at the trial that 13 five-gallon cans, also found in Vogel's establishment, although empty, gave evidence of having contained intoxicants. Another brother and sister, Fred and Caroline Vogel, are awaiting sentence pending an appeal for a new trial.

FRENCH DEBT PLAN OFFERED TO HOUSE

Treasury Official Says Settlement Represents 50 Cents on Dollar

Washington—(AP)—The Hawley resolution to authorize congressional approval of the settlement negotiated for funding the $4,025,000,000 French war debt was reported to the house today by its ways and means committee after Undersecretary Mills had testified the treasury approved of the measure.

The committee authorized its chairman, Representative Hawley of Oregon, to seek to expedite house consideration of the resolution.

Earlier questioning by Representative Crisp of Georgia, a Democrat on the committee and a member of the now extinct American Debt Funding commission, Mr. Mills said the settlement represented about 50 cents on a dollar, in effect cancelling the wartime advances and requiring payment of only the post-armistice advances.

"On a 50 per cent basis," he said, "all France will be doing is to pay back the money borrowed since the war."

GRUNDY WORK FOR PARTY IS HIT IN PROBE

Campaign Funds Gave Pennsylvania Influence, Lobby Inquiry Shows

Washington—(AP)—The lobby committee reported to the senate today that the "inference is irresistible" that the service rendered by Joseph R. Grundy of Pennsylvania, in raising Republican campaign funds led to the belief by Grundy and those associated with him that he would be able to influence the action of "his party associates in congress."

Following the chief contribution to political life of Mr. Grundy, who is being considered for the Pennsylvania senatorial seat, had consisted of raising funds for campaign use, the report said there was no doubt of his "ardent attachment to the principle of protection" and it could not be overlooked that "he has grown rich in the pursuit of a highly protected industry."

Though the result is not to be attributed wholly to him, the report added, those who contributed, at his instance, to the campaign, could some idea of the value of his services in connection with the tariff from the fact that in 65 of the leading industries of Pennsylvania, the pending tariff bill recommends raises in 42.

It was, it said, significant added profits to the manufacturers of the state if the rates became effective, of $1,136,999,000 as computed by an expert of the department of commerce. Grundy is president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association.

Man Struck By Auto Is Near Death

John Jones, 23, Milwaukee, is near death in St. Elizabeth hospital as a result of injuries received when he was struck by a car driven by W. O. Johnson, 441 Doty-st., Neenah, on highway 41 at Gmeiner's Corners about 11 o'clock Monday night.

Jones suffered a broken back, fractured pelvis, and possible internal injuries. Attending physicians say he has little chance to recover.

The accident happened after Jones, with a fellow workman, Louis Smith, Portage, Wis., had skidded into the ditch with a truck which they were driving. Milwaukee Smith had been driving. As they started to make the curve at the corner the truck skidded, went into the ditch, and turned over on its side.

Neither of the two men, who are employees of the Juttan-Kelly construction company, were injured when the truck tipped over. After some struggling they were able to get the truck back on the road and piled the baggage, which had spilled into the ditch, back on the truck. Jones was pulling a canvas over the baggage when Johnson's car approached and struck him, pinning him between the truck and the car.

Passersby assisted in taking Jones from the wreckage and rushed him to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Local police, who were called, took Smith to the local police station. Smith was unable to tell where Jones was from, however. He said he met Jones at Neenah where they had been working for the Milwaukee company. They were driving one of the company's trucks back to Milwaukee.

ILLINOIS GUARDSMEN KEEP ORDER IN STRIKE DISTRICT

Kincaid, Ill.—(AP)—Machine guns, with national guardsmen at the sights, today commanded the approaches to the four Peabody Coal company mines where National Miners Union members are on strike.

The mines numbers 7, 8, 9 and 33, which ordinarily employ 3,500 men, had only a few score workers today, and W. C. Argus, general superintendent, said it was doubtful if any of the mines would be able to operate.

Fifty state militiamen were on duty at each mine. They patrolled the properties, challenging each person who sought to enter and permitting to pass only those few who came to work.

The roads leading to the mines were filled with pickets of the N. M. U. Automobiles carrying other miners to work were stopped. In many cases the machines were forced to one side and halted. Others were compelled to turn around and return to Taylorville, where many of the miners live.

There were no displays of violence during the first few hours of the morning, although the pickets were in large numbers and permitted none to pass. Hundreds of miners congregated at the mine entrances, but there was no concentrated attempt to overtake the pickets.

Fredman P. Thompson of Springfield, spokesman for the N. M. U., stated the strike would not be called off until the N. M. U. had been met by the operators and the United Mine Workers of America thrown in to the cash van.

The state troopers made no attempt to interfere with the picketing, contenting their efforts on defense of company property. There were no indications that any hostile display was contemplated against the properties themselves, the present purpose of the N. M. U. apparently being to attract members of the U. M. W. to their ranks.

CRUISERS ON WAY TO STRIFE AREA IN CHINA

Kuomintang Demands Chiang and Organization Leave Offices

Canton—(AP)—Chang Kai-shek's revolution "Ironclads" division knocked at the doors of Canton today after a precipitate overnight advance which brought them near the city. Artillery fire was plainly audible.

It was said here the breach in the loyalists' lines had been made in the Tsingyun district, 50 miles north of Canton. The land mines were exploded by stampeding a herd of water buffalo against the Nationalists. The rebels followed behind the cattle.

It was understood the Nationalists planned to expect the utmost effort to hold Canton against the invaders. If the rebels came in the Garrison, however, was expected to retreat to the east. A pontoon bridge is being constructed across the east river to facilitate possible retreat.

Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist leader, telegraphed Kwangtung military headquarters here ordering two divisions of troops sent to Nanking and stating "forces badly needed."

Storm Toll Set At 163 In Europe

London—(AP)—Known deaths in the terrific storm which has battered Great Britain and the continental coast for the past week today reached 163, most of them at sea.

Numerous ships which have been battered by the terrific storm which has been pounding the British Isles and the continental seaboard for the past week today began limping into port showing evidences of the rough weather.

The great storm this afternoon seemed to have spent its force and comparative calm prevailed over the stricken area. There was warning, however that further disturbances were likely to approach from the Atlantic.

In all 63 ships were wrecked or damaged in the storm which has been one of the worst to strike the Eastern Atlantic in the past century. At present the chief worry so far as Great Britain was concerned was the extent of the flooding of the Thames and other rivers which have been rising steadily for the past week. The swollen Thames in its upper reaches has come to a higher level than the 1928 floods and is rapidly approaching the same level near London.

The rate of daily flow at Teddington, just above London, is now 9,000,000 gallons while the average for this time of year is 2,600,000,000.

Police have been directed to keep special watch on the embankment near the Tate Art gallery in London, near the point where a break occurred in last year's flood with heavy damage and loss of life. The concrete wall nearby has been cracking and the embankment road is closed to heavy traffic.

Several thickly populated five and six story tenement buildings adjoin the studio.

Ignited Films Make Inferno Of Building

Many in Building Barely Save Lives by Jumping from Windows

DEATH LIST MAY GROW

All Available Equipment in Upper Manhattan Helps Battle Flames

New York—(AP)—Trapped in a burning motion picture studio in Upper Manhattan today nine persons lost their lives. Several others are missing in the fire which swept a three-story brick studio of the Manhattan Studios, Inc., and the Pathe Motion Picture Exchange at Park-ave. 141st-st. today.

The studios are located on the flats beside the Harlem river in a district populated mostly by Negroes. General coal cellars are located nearby on the Harlem and the main lines of the New York Central railroad raised on an elevated structure, run within 100 feet of the studio.

Several thickly populated five and six story tenement buildings adjoin the studio.

About 75 persons were in the building when the fire of undetermined origin was discovered shortly before 10 o'clock.

Fed by inflammable film the flames quickly made an inferno of the interior of the small brick building. Many barely saved their lives by jumping from windows.

Four fire alarms brought all available apparatus from upper Manhattan and the Bronx. Several fireboats played streams on the flaming buildings from the Harlem river.

WOMAN BADLY HURT

One woman was seriously injured and taken away in one of the many "umbrellas" that resorted to calls. Two men, hurled about the hands were taken to Harlem hospital.

The stage was set in the rear of the first floor of the studio and "Eddie" Elsties, orchestra leader, had his 11 musicians in position to start the overture for a miniature review produced by Harry Delmar. On the second floor about 30 women, in costume, were in their dressing rooms awaiting call.

With cameras in position, Director ready and cast awaiting the call to "shoot," there was a flash from a black velvet drape in the rear of the stage. Flames followed. The studio crew, according to reports made to the police, uncoupled a line of hoses and started to fight the blaze. The fire spread with such rapidity, however, that one of the studio employees ran to the street and pulled an alarm box.

By the time the fire engines arrived the studio building was a mass and flames and huge billows of acrid smoke was pouring from the structure.

SOUNDS FOURTH ALARM

Despite Chief Dougherty's immediately sounded second, third and fourth alarms, however, apparatus from the Bronx and many parts of Manhattan, ambulances and police emergency squads and reserves.

When the studio employees realized that the flames were too much for them shouted for everyone to "flee from the building." The performers in the dressing rooms fled down the stairs and into the street where they were given refuge in nearby offices.

When firemen finally were able to make their way into the building they came upon the bodies of the five men and four women who were trapped.

John C. Blinn, vice president of the Pathe company, was seated in his office on the second floor with his secretary, Frances Walsh, when he heard the cry of fire. Opening the door he saw carpenters, scene shifters, cameramen, musicians, actors and actresses rushing toward the exits as the studio filled with flame and smoke. He escorted Miss Walsh to a balcony on the Park-ave side, from which he took a ladder.

AT START OF PICTURE

Mr. Blinn said that the picture, the "Black and White Review" was in the second day of the filming and that everything was in readiness for the cast to begin work when there was a burst of flame from a black velvet drape in the rear of the stage. He said there was no explosion.

Mr. Blinn said that his company did not develop in the studio, that they had only a film loading room.

The bodies of those who lost their lives were found, according to the firemen, at an exit on the 141st-st. side of the studio.

When the bodies were carried to the street, several of them burned almost beyond recognition. The leading director made the identifications of four of the bodies.

U. S. Women Describe Pirate Attack On British Ship

TELL STORY OF STRUGGLE AND RESCUE

Battle Between Marauders and Crew Lasted Over Hour and Half

Hong Kong. — (P) — Three American women today told a story of death, piracy and terror-riding hours aboard the burning British ship Hatching Sunday. The Hatching finally was rescued from Chinese pirates with timely arrival of the British warship Sterling.

The American women were Mrs. George Campbell, 70, of Los Angeles and her two daughters, Misses Louise and Dorothy Campbell, school teacher and nurse, respectively, at Swatow. Mrs. Campbell is connected with the American Baptist Missionary school at Kaying.

Mrs. Campbell and Miss Louise were aboard the ship accompanying Miss Dorothy who was on her way home to Los Angeles as far as Hong Kong from Swatow. At about 10 o'clock Sunday morning they were awakened by loud shouts and arose and dressed, not knowing what had happened.

Shortly they discovered that about 60 of their fellow passengers had been taken in disguise, and had attempted to take control of the ship to rob and loot it. For an hour and a half they listened to almost a continual fusillade outside their window as the pirates fought with the ship's crew and officers.

Finally it died down and numbers of the pirates rushed past them carrying their dead and wounded. For hours they cringed in their cabin, not knowing what to expect next. A great commotion on deck finally brought them to their cabin window. The pirates were seen to be carrying off the ship's stores and burning the forepart of the vessel.

LIFEBOATS PACKED — They rushed back, packed their valuables and went on deck. The British passenger named Craddock helped them with life belts and tried to get them into a boat. Frenzied Chinese passengers had jammed the life boats, however, and the group of foreigners aboard the vessel moved to the stern determined to await until the last possible moment before jumping into the water.

From where they stood they had a clear view of the flames and smoke. The decks were burning furiously and panic prevailed. Yells and oaths of the men mingled with cries and prayers of the women and children. While the Hatching's men went to all hands in an effort to attract a passing vessel.

They saw a lifeboat swing out to be lowered to the sea pitch its passengers into the sea as one of the ropes broke. A young Chinese mother clinging to the seat holding tightly to her baby was saved with her babe. Another lifeboat empty floated on the waves, with heads of swimmers all about.

Soon to the immeasurable relief of the watchers, the blackness was pierced by the flash of a searchlight and out of the darkness emerged the British destroyer Sterling which had heard the distress calls of the Hatching's young Chinese radio operator and had sped to the rescue.

In a few minutes searchlights clambered up the sides of the ship and took charge of the situation while the Sterling drew close and turned hoses on the burning fore part of the vessel. The three women and other women were taken aboard the Sterling by a lifeboat, and were brought to Hong Kong.

They were provided with every comfort and arrived fit and well despite the harrowing experiences. Miss Dorothy sailed today aboard the President Grant for Los Angeles, while Mrs. Campbell and Miss Louise will remain here several days before returning to Swatow.

It was the second time in four months the American women had been the hands of brigands. The Campbells were kidnapped Aug. 17 by bandits at Kaying and held for ransom but later were released after being taken a long distance into the interior.

HUNT MORE CLEWS IN TEACHER MURDER — Police Attempt to Link Two Lovers With Crime at Rockford, Ill.

Rockford, Ill. — (P) — In search of a motive for the slaying of Miss Cordelia Gummshelmer, attractive school teacher found beaten to death in her apartment Sunday, authorities today are picturing the woman at once as a matter-of-fact school marm and as a woman of secret loves.

As her friends in Rockford knew her, Miss Gummshelmer was a teacher devoted to her work, head of the foreign language department at Rockford high school, a woman who taught both day and night and whose diversion consisted mainly of an occasional evening at bridge with women friends.

To the authorities the teacher presented another picture—a woman admired by two men neither of whom knew of the other and each of whom protested his love for her in frequent letters, found carefully kept in her kitchenette apartment.

While an eccentric dentist, Dr. Floyd Leach, was still in custody because he had been seen in the neighborhood of the teacher's home the night she was killed, authorities said they had no evidence to link him with the crime.

One of the teachers correspondents, Glen Wieman, is in Tarpon Springs, Fla., and the other, Roy Gardner, in New York.

F. G. Dahm Prepares for Opening — Will Establish Home Here

F. G. Dahm, newly-appointed manager of Montgomery Ward and Co.'s local retail store, arrived here today to make Appleton his new home and to prepare for the opening of the new Ward store soon.

He states that he will apply for membership in the Chamber of Commerce immediately and will take an active part in the civic and mercantile events of the city.

"We expect to become a real Appleton organization and will work and strive for the welfare of the city. This store without a doubt will attract many more shoppers to Appleton and will make the city an even greater shopping center than it is now."

BELIEVE SUSPECT WOMEN ATTACKER

Man Held at Janesville Thought "Perfumed Slugger" of West Coast

Janesville. — (P) — Confident they have captured the "perfumed slugger" who terrorized a section of the Pacific northwest last year, Rock-cook authorities today awaited the arrival of a Seattle detective to return a man believed to be Lloyd Fathers, 23.

Through pictures, Sheriff Charles Garey said he had ascertained that Fathers, arrested here yesterday, is the man who attacked and attempted to harm more than a score of women. A long series of attacks were laid to the same man because the victims reported a strong scent of heliotrope perfume.

Suffering from a gunshot wound and refusing to affirm or deny his identity, the man did not indicate whether he would fight extradition to Washington.

He was arrested when Under Sheriff Robert Noddie saw him on the street and saw that he resembled photograph mailed from Seattle at the time of the nation-wide hunt for the slugger.

The man came to Janesville from Tacoma on Nov. 3, officials said, and was harbored by a disreputable relative who called a doctor to treat his wound. The doctor failed to report the wound to police, they said. The man said he was wounded when, in a small Indiana town, he attempted to steal a milk bottle and was shot.

The sheriff's office secured reports that the man was in Rockford, Ill., at the time a high school teacher was slain there. They did believe, however, that he was connected with an automobile theft in Urbana, Ill., to the south.

Seattle, Wash. — (P) — The county prosecutor's office announced here today that it had reports in its files of attacks on more than 20 Seattle and Tacoma girls by Lloyd Fathers, arrested in Janesville, Wis., and identified by photographs as the "perfumed slugger" who terrorized residential districts of the two cities here for months.

A holding charge was filed in justice of the peace court specifically accusing Fathers of attacking Ruby Mayo, 19-year-old Seattle high school girl, in her home on Oct. 13, 1928.

The attacker gained his name because he invariably reeked with cheap perfume. He always carried a pistol and blackjack.

COOPERATIVE FARM MARKETING TO BE THEME OF INSTITUTE

Two-day Meeting Opens Wednesday Morning at Freedom

Hundreds of farmers and their families are expected to attend the two-day farm institute which opens Wednesday morning at Freedom. Cooperative farm marketing is the subject which will be stressed in all the addresses and discussions of the institute program, according to Gus Sell, county agent, who assisted in arranging the program.

Mr. Sell was assisted in making arrangements for the institute by a committee of prominent farmers from Freedom and vicinity and representatives of the farm institute bureau of the state department of agriculture.

Speakers on the two-day program will include: Father Steinbock of Auburn; E. G. Swoboda of the National Cheese Producers' headquarters at Plymouth; H. W. Ullsperger, manager of the Door County Fruit Growers union at Sturgeon Bay; E. E. Billington of the National Cheese Producers' federation; Charles A. Grode of the National Cheese Producers' federation at Kaukauna; Marvin A. Schaars, economist with the state college of agriculture, and Mr. Sell.

The program will start at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and after each speech there will be an open forum discussion with all visitors taking part. A special program of entertainment has been arranged for Wednesday evening. The institute will close Thursday afternoon.

RAIN, SNOW, COLDER, PREDICTED WEDNESDAY

Rain or snow with a drop in the mercury is the weatherman's offering for this vicinity for the next 24 hours. Similar predictions have been circulated through out the middlewest for Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Light rain fell here Monday night and Tuesday night, and Tuesday night and Wednesday morning streets and highways again were covered with a layer of ice, which made walking and driving treacherous. Workmen of the street department are spreading sand in the road at dangerous intersections where numerous accidents have been reported in the last few days.

Winds are shifting in the northeast, which is a fair indication that rough weather is on the way. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the thermometer stood at 15 degrees above zero, while at noon the mercury registered 22 degrees above zero.

PLANNING COMMISSION WILL MEET TOMORROW

The city planning commission will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to discuss the Johnson-Brookhaus and Pierce plats. A request from the Lutz Ice company asking that all lands lying east and south of a proposed round over lots 3, 4 and 5 be placed in the light manufacturing district will be considered.

ENGINEER PREPARING NEXT YEAR'S PROGRAM

L. M. Schindler, city engineer, is preparing his program for next year. Mr. Schindler's program, proposing pavements and sewers to be done next year, will be presented to the common council at its next meeting.

REFLECT DELTGEN HEAD OF APPLETON BARBERS' UNION

Make Preliminary Plans for Clinic to Be Held Here Next Summer

John Deltgen was reelected president of the Appleton Barbers' Union at the monthly meeting of the organization in Trades and Labor Council hall Monday evening. Other officers elected to office for the coming year are: Perry Brown, vice president; William Smith, secretary and treasurer; Chester Smith, record secretary; George Mignon, guide; Edward Kinnard, guardian and John Milbeau, chaplain.

Preliminary plans for a barbers' clinic which probably will be held here next summer were discussed at the meeting. The last clinic was held here four years ago, at which time 250 tonsorialists from throughout the valley took part. It is expected that if plans materialize for the clinic this summer, 500 barbers from throughout the central part of the state will be invited to take part, according to announcements made at the meeting.

Plans also will be arranged to have the general secretary of the International Barbers' Union as president of the affair. It also is expected that heads of barbers' unions from other states also will attend the clinic.

RELEASE DIPHTHERIA PATIENT THIS WEEK

The one case of diphtheria in the city will be released from quarantine some time this week, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health inspector. At present there are six cases of scarlet fever in four Appleton homes, 14 cases of chicken pox, and two of whooping cough. There are no measles.

POLICE ARE HOLDING LOST GLOVES, RUBBERS

Some child who visited Appleton's business section Monday in an effort to see Santa Claus is grieving this morning over the loss of a pair of rubbers and a pair of mittens. But if he will call at the police station and identify his property, they will be returned to him, according to Police Chief George T. Finn. The rubbers and gloves were found on the street and taken to the station.

Haiti Expects No More Rioting Will Prevail

Port-au-Prince, Haiti. — (P) — Haiti, country spreading desolation and unrest, "exploding through equivocal continuation of weekend rioting," which cost lives of five natives and more than a score of wounded. President Louis Borno issued a manifesto charging that ambitious persons wishing a change in the government had caused the disorders. He praised the American forces for the manner in which they performed their duties under the treaty with Haiti.

The president charged that these "ambitious persons" worked principally to prevent the students of the country from spreading desolation and unrest, "exploding through equivocal continuation of weekend rioting," which cost lives of five natives and more than a score of wounded.

Families of Americans at Aux Cayes and Jacmel arrived here safely on the naval vessel Woodcock after evacuation as a precautionary measure incident to the attack on Aux Cayes last Friday. The American women said more casualties might be revealed in the heavy cane growth around the scene of the skirmish last Friday.

This case is now being cut by prisoners to prevent its being used again as cover in the event of another attack. Among those arriving on the Woodcock were Mrs. Roy Swink of Stroudsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Berroyer of Paris, Ill., and Mrs. Manus of New Iberia, La.

Mrs. Manus told of the toll marine casualty, private Lester Gillespie of Tenney, Minn., who offered a member of the mob to withdraw and struck him with the butt of an automatic rifle when he refused. The killed Prof. Alexander Hamilton Johnson of Hartwell, Ga., during the convention of the National Education association here last June, offered a solution for a mystery that has puzzled police for nearly six months.

Hardgreave said he and Johnson had been drinking and that he beat the teacher to death with a brick while they were riding in the latter's car. "We were drunk and got to fighting about who would drive," said Hardgreave. "I was defending my own life."

He said he had visited Cincinnati and Montgomery, Ala., since the killing, but it had been eating at his conscience and he wanted to get it all over with.

Johnson's body was found in his automobile on a residential street. Police said Johnson's companion on the night he was slain was a man with a black eye. Hardgreave said he had engaged in a fight the day before with a man who hit him with an iron bar bruising one eye.

Hardgreave was held on suspicion pending further questioning and his appearance before Judge F. A. Geiger in federal court at Milwaukee, and the schedule of cases and liabilities has been referred to Charles H. Forward, Oshkosh, referee in bankruptcy, for administration. Indebtedness totals $3,529.88, with unsecured claims reaching $1,229.98. Wages due to a clerk amounting to $300 and notes which ought to be paid by other parties are listed at $1,990. Assets include: real estate worth $2,241.11; cash, $35.38; stock valued at $4,797.25; household goods, $290; and an automobile worth $100. Other assets include machinery listed at $2,200; personal property $160; debts due, $68.31; and property in reversion, $416.02. Exemption is claimed for furniture to the amount of $2,781.

Eugene Liese, Green Bay, spent the weekend in this city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Liese.

POSTAL WORKERS IN PLEA FOR EARLY CHRISTMAS MAILING

Urge Public to Remember That Post Office Is Flooded During Holidays

Employees at the post office united this week in an appeal to Appleton citizens to shop early and mail early. W. H. Zuehlke, acting postmaster, approved of the appeal and pointed out that patrons should be considered enough to remember that the postal employees would be literally "worked to death" on the few days preceding Christmas unless the people cooperate by sending as much of their mail as early as possible.

"Better to have cards and packages arrive a few days early than a few days too late," the postmaster pointed out. "The post office is closed on Sunday and again on Wednesday, Christmas day, under orders from the federal postal department. This means there will be an unprecedented avalanche of mail in Monday and Tuesday. No matter how much mail there is left, all postal operation will cease at midnight Christmas eve and packages and mail which are not delivered by that time will not be delivered until after Christmas."

While the stop early campaign conducted by the post office throughout the United States each year has gone enough good to prevent a complete tieup of the postal system at Christmas, there still is considerable room for improvement, Mr. Zuehlke pointed out.

FACE CONGESTION

In spite of the improvement the postal office is in practically every city are faced with a congested situation each Christmas which makes the pre-Christmas season a nightmare instead of a season of happiness, Mr. Zuehlke said.

This year an effort is being made to have patrons mail Christmas cards early as well as Christmas packages. People believe when they have mailed Christmas packages early they have done their duty but they forget the huge rush of Christmas cards which comes each year, a day or two before Christmas.

Many people have an idea their cards must reach their destination on Christmas day. It is a mistaken notion, Postmaster Zuehlke said. Not only does the sender run the risk of having the card delivered a day or two after Christmas but he isn't applying the psychology of what he has learned about the cards he receives. The card that is delivered several days before Christmas is just as much appreciated and often gets more attention than the one which comes on the busy Christmas day.

Observations have shown that the peak of the mailing season usually is reached about Dec. 20. That is two days late for Christmas handling.

SUMMER SUNSHINE FOR BABIES SCOTT'S EMULSION GET A BOTTLE TODAY

Several readers have sent in questions like "What are bunions?" "What about bunions?" A very good question.

First, what is a bunion? A bunion is an inflammation at the great toe joint, causing redness, swelling and pain. Sometimes it is confused with "hallux valgus" which is a dislocation of the great toe, often a deformity dating from birth, but more often, like other foot troubles, acquired. For ordinary purposes both are known as bunions.

Bunions are gradually formed and are found usually when there is arch trouble, such as the falling of the metatarsal arch across the ball of the foot. Also it can be the result of weakness in the longitudinal arch of the foot. In this condition the great toe is bent inward, sometimes overlapping the next toe to it. The joint of the great toe is forced outward and the foot is weak and elongates in the shoe. It is pointed out in a previous talk, the shoe is constantly rubbing on this joint, causing it to become very painful. There is tenderness, sometimes preventing the wearing of shoes.

The relief of bunions is simple enough. First, one should wear a shoe which will immediately take away any pressure of the joint. It should be of proper length as should the stocking. The latter is just as important as the shoe, as all constriction must be removed. The idea, of course, is to get the offending great toe back into a straight line with the other toes. An excellent rubber device has been perfected which can be worn between the great and the next toe. It is similar to a post and exerts an even outward pressure when one walks. It has been used with great success in correcting these painful afflictions.

Another device is a rubber modified shield or pad which is smugly over the joint with a cushioned shoulder back of the bunion to remove shoe pressure and irritation. But as I remarked before, a bunion usually is accompanied by arch depression and the real correction comes when that arch is raised and the foot ceases to elongate and subject the great toe joint to shoe friction.

CHARGE MAN PARKED IN PROHIBITED ZONE

Inglebert Nelson, 844 E. Eldorado-st, was arrested Monday night on College-ave for parking his car in a prohibited zone in front of a theatre. The arrest was made by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer. Nelson was to appear in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Tuesday afternoon to answer charges.

RESERVE 100 SEATS FOR VALLEY SCOUTS

One hundred seats have been reserved by the Appleton "Women's" club for valley council boy scouts, who will hear Count Von Luckner, former German sea raider of world war days speak at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Scouts are requested not to enter the chapel until 5 o'clock at which time they will enter in a body, accompanied by council officials. They are requested to get their tickets at the scout offices at 224 E. College-ave after 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive.

Ing. Mr. Zuehlke said the increase is noticeable already as daily stamp sales have increased from an average of about $5.00 to over $7.00. This will continue to grow until it reaches an average of $12.00 just before Christmas.

The postal department here is asking patrons to move up their mailing a couple of days so the peak will come on Dec. 15 instead of 20.

SOME FACTS ABOUT BUNIONS

In my previous talks on foot troubles I have told you how many of the foot ills that plague most of us can be avoided by wearing properly fitted shoes, taking foot exercises and, where they are needed, the fitting of the proper supports in the shoes.

BETTER THIS YEAR

Majority of Men With Jobs in Mills Won't Change
Until Spring

The employment situation in Appleton seems a little more favorable than it was last year at this time, according to reports of various employment managers in local industrial plants.

The number of men seeking employment in local mills, however, is about the same, as many as 25 to 30 making daily inquiries about jobs.

Local industrial plants are not hiring men now due to the fact that those who secured jobs toward the end of the summer are satisfied to hold them with the approach of winter.

Numerous building projects in the city at the present time is one of the factors which are making the employment situation in Appleton more favorable, employment managers say.

Between 150 and 150 men are being employed by the Wisconsin Telephone Co., having the new $2,000,000 cable through this city and for construction work on the new $425,000 addition to the local exchange building. Other smaller building projects offer jobs to as many as 15 to 25 men.

Most men and women inquiring about jobs are non-residents, some of them coming from as far south as Chicago, Ill. Inquiries are received from men who live in cities throughout the state.

Many inquiries are being made by men who during the past five or six months were employed on farms, but are now unemployed because the

Those who furnish a left-handed pen are Mayor A. C. Rule, Miss Marie Kaarsboom, city nurse, Elmer Honkamp, internal revenue officer, and Miss Frances Rastall, deputy clerk. The "Elmers" are Elmer Honkamp, Elmer O'Keefe, assistant in the engineering department and Elmer Scott, deputy clerk.

Some of the transient laborers are traveling throughout the Fox river valley seeking jobs. In several cases men inquired for work here on Monday and on the following Thursday or Friday, after seeking work in other cities of the valley, returned here to make further inquiries.

Lions Club Hears How City Manager Plan Operates

MENT TOLD HOW COUNCIL AND MANAGER WORK

City Gets Benefit of Expert Business Leadership, Balliet Says

After briefly explaining the theory and practice of the city manager plan of government to the Lions club Monday afternoon, Sario A. Balliet, secretary of the City Manager Campaign committee, discussed the issues raised a week ago Monday before the city club by Alderman Charles D. Thompson in his talk on the aldermanic form of government. Mr. Balliet said that the city manager plan is the only one of the methods of private business to be used in the management of a city and that it shows how the system works and how economies are effected.

"It was my hope in discussing the city manager plan of government before the Lions club that I might convince myself entirely to a presentation of the theory and the actual practice of the plan, with reference to any other plan of government and without making any kind of comparison," Mr. Balliet stated. "I thought the Lions club would be more interested in what the City Manager plan is and how it operates than in any comparison with other forms or with the existing government in Appleton. And the speaker last Monday, Alderman Thompson, no doubt left some impressions in your mind. I do not think are altogether right and which need to be corrected.

"For a thorough understanding of issues involved in the present campaign and to correctly interpret comparisons between the aldermanic and the city manager plan, it is necessary first to know what the manager plan of government is.

WHAT IT IS

"The city manager plan is the private corporation form applied to government. A corporation is composed of a body of stockholders whose voice in the government is given expression through participation in an annual election of a board of directors to whom is delegated the power of directing the corporation affairs. This board of directors appoints a general manager, who carries out the policies of the board and directs a staff of division and department heads to assist him in the actual operation of the corporation.

"In like manner the city manager plan functions in the operation of municipalities. The stockholders are the citizens who elect a commission or council to whom is delegated the power of directing the affairs of the city. This commission is a board of directors which appoints a general manager, known as the city manager, who selects his department and division heads to aid him in the management of the city.

"The city manager plan has been misnamed, it appears a better name would be the commission manager plan, inasmuch as there are two separate and distinct branches contemplated on that form of municipal management. One branch is the council elected by the people and responsible directly to them.

This council as its part of the city government passes ordinances, determines all policies, approves the budget as estimated and submitted by the city manager, levies taxes, appoints the city manager, fixes his salary and has power to remove him at any time and exercises all power not definitely conferred by ordinance upon the city manager. This branch of government has the sole power of legislation and is specifically deprived of any administrative power by law. It possesses all of the legislative power that the common council and the mayor now possess but it has none of their administrative powers.

THE MAYOR'S JOB

"The other branch of the government under the manager plan consists of a manager, who as his part of the city government enforces the ordinances, sees that the policies of the council are carried out, submits the budget and appoints all city administrative employees. He is the business manager of the city charged with its maintenance and protection and all city employees are responsible to him. The details of the city operations are in his hands. He must make monthly financial reports to the council and give them such other information as they request. His powers and duties are definitely determined by law.

"It is important for any consideration of the manager plan and for a discussion of the questions raised by Mr. Thompson to have this background. The commission manager plan consists of a legislative body elected by the people and an administrative officer elected by the council and responsible to it," he said.

"You were told last Monday that the judgment of 13 men on matters of city business is better than the judgment of one man, giving rise to the impression that the City Manager government is a one man government. Nothing could be farther from the truth. As was explained before the commission or council will consist of seven men, elected by the people and it will be their combined judgment, not the judgment of the manager or any single individual, that will be brought to bear upon matters of policy within the city.

"Suppose the same matter of a home for crippled children that now is perplexing the city administration was up for consideration under the city manager plan. Do you think that the determination of this problem would be up to the city manager and that he would have the sole responsibility? If you do you are mistaken.

"That is a matter of policy pure and simple and would be something for the council and not the manager to wrestle with. There are seven men on the council and I don't think that it would be far fetched to say that the judgment of seven men elected under the manager form from the city at large would be at least as accurate as the judgment of 13 men elected under the aldermanic plan. And so it goes with other matters of policy that constantly are before a city administration, they are determined by the council and not by the manager and the council members are men or women elected from the city, with as thorough a knowledge of what the city needs and of the desires and prejudices of the people as members of the aldermanic council.

JUDGMENT OF EXPERT

"It is true that in matters of administration it is the judgment of one man, the city manager, against the alderman and mayor, but it is the judgment of one experienced executive against the judgment of men whose chief qualification for holding office is not their business ability or their judgment, but their ability to get votes.

"Operation of a city is a complicated business, no less so than the operation of the factories or the businesses that you men are interested in. I am wondering how many of our men would entrust the administration, the purchasing, the technical details of your business to thirteen men who have no training or regard for any ability beyond that of getting people to vote for them? You would employ an expert in your business to do that work and you would rely on his judgment against the judgment of persons without experience in that work, and that is what you are asked to do under the city manager plan.

"The city manager is hired because he is an expert in city business. He knows how the multiplicity of the city functions should be carried out, he is especially trained for that work, and it appears to me that his judgment on administration matters is much more to be desired than the judgment of twelve untrained and inexperienced men.

ASSETS COORDINATION

"The city manager is the man who has no man's knowledge is infinite and that it is not possible for one man to know everything about city business. That is true but it is equally true that a man whose training and mental ability qualifies him for the job of city manager and who gives his full time to city business, is in much better position to acquire details and technical knowledge than men whose principal interest must naturally be in their private enterprises and with whom managing a city is a side line.

"It is true that the city does employ engineers and other types of experts to operate their departments, but unless there is some directing head with more than a smattering of knowledge of all the departments which are under his direction and who will result in the coordination of the purposes of the manager to coordinate departments and work to effect economies that are not possible when the only cooperation there is between city departments is voluntary and there can be no correlation of activities because there is no one with knowledge of all the departments and their problems who can get them together.

"One of the stock questions of opponents of the city manager plan is 'Where will you find a capable man to manage Appleton if the plan is adopted?' It was asked last Monday by Mr. Thompson and you are entitled to an answer.

HOW TO GET MANAGER

"In the first place there are now 247 cities in the United States and Canada operating under the city manager plan. In the vast majority of these cities the plan has been successful because the managers have done their work well and have proved by their service and their results that they know their business. Many of these successful managers are in cities smaller than Appleton and they are constantly on the lookout for chances to step into bigger jobs.

"The only chance that a manager has for promotion is to take a job in a bigger city than the one in which he is working and like all ambitious men there are constantly looking for promotions. It has been the experience of other cities the size of Appleton that they receive from 10 to 150 applications for appointment as manager, all coming from men with experience. It surely should be possible to find one man from so large a list of experienced persons to fill the job here. Other cities have done it, corporations are doing it every day and there is no reason why Appleton can't find a man, if diligent care is taken, to give satisfactory service as city manager.

"There are few fields of activity more attractive to ambitious young men possessed with sound sense than that of city manager as a result there are a large number of them preparing in the universities of the country for the job. They are the leaders and usually have the first experience in small towns, like Rhineland or Two Rivers, and if they make good there, they are picked up by larger cities.

"If there is a large mortality among city managers it is largely in the smaller cities where they are taken by larger communities that have the plan, or that lose their efficient managers to industries who are willing to pay more for their knowledge and their experience than cities are.

"You were told last week that a large number of cities have abandoned the city manager plan and have gone back to the aldermanic form of government. The facts of the matter are that since 1908, when Staunton, Va., first adopted the city manager plan, that form of government until the present time, only nine cities that adopted the city manager form by vote of the people have abandoned it. It is true that quite a number of other cities, that once had a so-called city manager form of government, have abandoned it but every one of those cities adopted a make-shift city manager plan by city ordinance and because of the way it was adopted and the strings that were attached to it and the red tape that was

Balliet concluded.

The Oldtimer Asks

Do you Remember when—

The Hatches first lived way out in the country. In the square house at the corner of Wisconsin and Durkee-st.

Mrs. Orblison lived on the outskirts of town in a brick house on Drew-st. near Pacific?

"Father" Wilson lived at the corner of Rankin-st. and College-ave. Elder Rork had a farm on Richmond-st.

Squire Bateman lived on Lawest-between College-ave and Alton-ave. Robert Bateman's farm occupied most of the territory north of North-avenue and east of Lawest to the C. & N. W. railroad. The Bateman farm house being the square house at Meade and North-sts.

Batemans pond made by throwing a dam across a ravine at about where the kids their first swim in the fall before the river had frozen hard enough to skate on.

The Methodist Church stood on College-ave opposite the College where the Rosebush residence now is?

would around it. It never did have chance to survive.

"The city manager in the vast majority of those cities was a thing more or less than a glorified mayor with very little more power and authority than the mayor under the aldermanic form possesses. It was a city manager form of government in name only, with the council retaining most of the functions of the mayor. And let it be remembered that the same council which adopted the plan of a city manager plan they had in those cities afterward abandoned it because it wouldn't work. Of course it wouldn't work. It wasn't a city manager plan at all, just a makeshift arrangement that couldn't possibly survive.

It is interesting to note that in nearly all of the nine cities that have had a honest to goodness city manager plan and afterward abandoned it, the reason for abandonment was purely local and had no relation whatsoever to the efficiency or the success of the manager or the plan.

"In the matter of taxes Mr. Thompson chose to compare Appleton with Janesville, because, he said, Janesville frequently is used by opponents of the city manager plan as an example of efficient management. Mr. Thompson was entirely correct when he said that comparisons between cities and their taxes are difficult because of the differences in their situations and in their people and in conditions.

It was said that while Janesville has a rate of $22 and Appleton has a rate of $35, that if the proportion of assessed valuation in the two cities were made whole "scotching" at the idea that the consumer pays any additional amount on account of the tariff, was not prepared to extend that view to include manganese.

GAVE NO REASON

Nor did he offer any reason why, he said, if the price of manganese would not be increased, the steel manufacturers of his state offered "such stubborn resistance" to the imposition of a duty. Neither could he find this reasoning applicable to agricultural products, the report further declared.

The committee also reported that Grundy had failed to submit any evidence to it to substantiate his charge that some southern and western states "do not pay enough toward the upkeep of the government to cover the cost of collection."

On account of the tariff, was not prepared to extend that view to include manganese.

SET DEC. 20 AS DATE FOR TRIAL OF KELLY ON LARCENY CHARGE

Judge Also Sets Dec. 19 as Date for Trial of Kelly and Kemp

Dan Kelly, former turnkey at the county jail and the state's principal witness in the recent outburst proceedings against Sheriff Fred W. Giese, pleaded not guilty in municipal court this morning to an information charging him with an attempted larceny at the Peter Traas grocery, E. College-ave, on Nov. 24, and trial of the case was set for Dec. 29.

Kelly's attorney, A. H. Krugmeier, entered the plea of not guilty without requiring the information, prepared by District Attorney Stanley A. Skauld to be read. Bonds were fixed at $5,000, which Kelly was unable to pay. On motion of Mr. Krugmeier, Judge Theodore Berg ordered that Kelly be confined to the Calumet-count jail at Chilston.

After a conference with the district attorney, Judge Berg also set the date for the trial of Kelly, Lochar Kemp, a deputy still serving under Sheriff Giese, on charges of accepting a bribe and Kemp took $50 for protecting a still operated by Henry Van Camp in the town of Grand Chute. In the hearings of the charges against Sheriff Giese, Kelly admitted he accepted this bribe. He claimed Kemp knew all about the deal. Kemp denies this.

The information charging Kelly with the attempted larceny also sets forth Kelly's criminal record. It alleges that Kelly was sentenced from Milwaukee on Nov. 30, 1921, on a charge of attempted murder, to one year in the state reformatory at Green Bay. It also alleges that on Aug. 7, 1923, Kelly was sentenced from Milwaukee to five years in state prison at Waupun.

The district attorney did not comment on the inclusion of Kelly's criminal record. This action is taken only when the district attorney desires the judge to know the record of the defendant for reference in setting sentence in case of a conviction.

REBELS AT GATES OF CANTON, REPORT

RECORD CROWD WAS IN CITY YESTERDAY TO SEE SANTA CLAUS

Visit of Kris Kringle and His Reindeer Drew Thousands of Children

What is believed to be one of the largest crowds of rural and urban visitors ever attracted to Appleton's business district, thronged the downtown section of the city Monday morning and afternoon to get a glimpse of Santa Claus and his reindeer and Eskimo helpers, who paid a pre-Christmas visit to the city under auspices of the retail division of the Appleton Chamber of commerce.

Santa Claus arrived in the city late Sunday night, and was at the parking lot at the Y. M. C. A. early Monday morning. The lot was the scene of bustle and activity all day as parents brought their children to see the man who makes Christmas what it is for the children. The only mishap of Santa's visit was the death of one of his reindeer, which was killed in a fight with some polar bear in northern Canada.

During the afternoon the downtown section of the city was so crowded with visitors that there was difficulty walking through the business district. Crowds jammed every corner waiting for Santa Claus to make his scheduled trips with his reindeer. In addition, hundreds of children and their parents flocked about the parking lot to greet Santa Claus.

Santa left Appleton shortly after dark Monday night, but he left no word as to whether he planned to return directly to the North Pole or whether he was to visit some other city first.

More than 3,000 bags of peanuts and candy were distributed to children at the Hillman Nash company and at the Hillman Nash company garage, 527 W. College-ave, between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Santa Claus and his reindeer stopped at the garage and helped distribute the bags of goodies. The jam of children was so large that traffic was tied up for some time.

It is expected 16 managers and their directors will attend the meeting. Other matters regarding problems of the national association of finance companies, also will be discussed. Reports of the progress being made by companies throughout the eastern section of Wisconsin will be read.

The Nankins-Shanghai railway line as well as telephone and telegraph lines connecting this city with the Nationalist capital are severed. There is no means of communications by this route.

Thirty Japanese women and children refugees arrived here today from Nanking. More are expected to arrive tonight.

PAYS FINE FOR MAKING "U" TURN ON AVENUE

Clarence Reim, route 5, Appleton, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday when he pleaded guilty of making a "U" turn on College-ave. He was arrested Sunday night by Gus Horskorp, motorcycle officer.

SAY PRESIDENT QUILTS

San Francisco, Dec. 9.—The Chinese Nationalist Daily, Chinese language newspaper here, told the Associated Press today it had been informed reliably that President Chiang Kai-Shek of China had not only been ousted but that the left wing of the Kuomintang had demanded that his entire organization be removed, and the widely known revolutionary Wang Chao-Ming, be made chief executive as the price of peace in the Far Eastern republic.

The information, the newspaper said, came in semi-official press dispatches from Kuomintang (People's party) leaders in Canton and Nanking.

The Nationalist daily, the chief organ in America of the radical section of the Kuomintang, said the resignation of Chiang Kai-Shek, who led the Nationalist army to victory and virtually united China for the first time since the Manchurian dynasty abdicated, had been demanded by the majority of the Kuomintang political organization in Nanking and that he had complied.

Although the reported resignation of Chiang lacked verification through foreign channels, M. S. Jung, speaking on behalf of the Chinese newspaper, said Chinese officials agreed on it and stated that the only thing delaying his replacement by Wang Chao-Ming, otherwise known as Wang Ching-Wei, was the problem of eliminating all of Chiang Kai-Shek's organization.

LOWDEN AGAIN PLEADS FOR EQUALIZATION FEE

Chicago—(AP)—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, pleaded today his belief in the principle of equalization fee in the disposition of crop surpluses.

Department momentarily from a prepared speech before a convention of the American Farm Bureau federation, the agricultural leader urged farmers to join cooperative associations and support the federal farm board but inserted a word in behalf of the fee plan abandoned by the farm bureau last year after long advocacy.

Mr. Lowden withdrew his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination in 1928 because of a difference with the party's farm platform.

President von Hindenburg, who is an old friend of Field Marshal Mackensen, had him for luncheon today.

Split Seen In Ranks Of U. S. Prohibition Party

New York—(AP)—Friction in the ranks of the Prohibition party was disclosed today in the calling together of the national committee at Columbus, Ohio, tomorrow, over the protest of D. Leigh Colvin, chairman.

The call was sent out by W. D. Martin of New Jersey, a member of the executive committee, and has the support of William P. Varney of Rockville Centre, N. Y., the party's presidential candidate last year.

Mr. Colvin, who advocated the withdrawal of Mr. Varney from the presidential race in favor of Herbert Hoover, has branded the call as "illegal," declaring it was not signed by a majority of the committee. This was denied by Mr. Varney.

Mr. Varney made public a letter he had written to Mr. Colvin in which he said the calling together of the committee "made necessary by your lack of ability to sense or understand the situation, fostered by the czar-like attitude you have assumed to those of us who desire to build and maintain a party which will function as such."

"When members are not in harmony, they should be honest and gladly step aside and not rob those who desire to remain loyal and live in the political house they have reared, the fruits of their labors."

"You admit differences of opinion, but you have not seen any necessity to call your executive committee together; discuss frankly the situation, and in the interest of the welfare of the party to adjust these differences before it was too late. We are because you were quite sure you could not get the approval of your executive committee for your one-sided regime?"

"I thought you were a servant of and for the cause. I have now changed my opinion to the firm belief that you are a czar-like attitude. You need none of their counsel. I regret my vote was cast to elect you as chairman. May God forgive me for this error of judgment."

The baby often enjoys pointing out and learning to call by name the many familiar objects which are found pictured in the advertising sections of the popular magazines. It is well to bear in mind this connection that the child should be taught to remember only such things as daily experience is sure to bring constantly to his attention.

One of the happiest devices for training the child's memory is to teach him to tell little "stories" about the happenings of his day. At first, of course, it is mother who will have to tell the whole story.

"What did Bobby and mother see today? We saw a cow and she was eating grass. We saw some pretty flowers. We saw a big steam engine that went choo-choo-choo and went far away. And we saw a birdie sitting on a fence singing a song for us, didn't we?"

At first, of course, the baby will not respond in words at all, but your friendly, interested tone will keep his attention on your story.

The content soon will interest him for its own sake and he will begin to supply the words as you talk. Soon he will make voluntary contributions of items of his own until gradually he tells more and more of the story.

THE UNITED STATES IN HAITI

Washington has ordered more marines to Haiti. Another of that island's periodical brawls seems to have started. Most of the many uprisings which have troubled it in the past were due to causes either obscure or trivial. The present difficulty started over a strike of customs house employees. The United States went into Haiti in 1915 because a state of virtual anarchy existed and it could not escape the moral responsibility of preventing wholesale massacres and protecting the interests of the people. We are there entirely for humanitarian reasons and for the welfare of the Haitians themselves.

Haiti conducts its own affairs under what amounts to a protectorate. It may be that this supervision, which has maintained order for nearly 15 years now, has not been exercised at all times in the most capable or adroit manner. It may be that conditions have grown up which are not creditable to American intervention. It might even be that the efforts have been to keep in power unfit presidents. President Hoover wants to know the exact facts. He asked congress in his regular message to authorize an investigation of our record in Haiti and he has renewed this recommendation in a special message transmitted during the present outbreak. It is a request which congress ought to immediately grant.

"Not only should we have a check-up of affairs in Haiti, but the government is entitled to a true picture of conditions there in order to determine its future course and policy. Some of our oratorical firebrands who lose no opportunity to censure the government for its efforts to promote peace and good government in Central American territory will shout themselves hoarse in denunciation of our presence in Haiti and the sending of additional marines. They are brush beaters and the game they are after is a political hare.

In a material way there is no doubt that American occupancy of Haiti has been of great benefit to its people. We have done very much to improve the wretched sanitation of the country, build roads, hospitals and schools and promote education. It was American intervention that saved Cuba from itself, as well as Porto Rico. It is unchristian and wrong for an advanced nation like the United States to stand idly by and see populations of adjoining isles, even if made up of negroes, hack each other to pieces in a barbarous orgy over ignorant political pretensions. We have done our duty in that quarter in principle, but it may be that we have not always done it wisely or well. President Hoover seeks to find out just what has happened in Haiti under American intervention. In the meantime, the government has no alternative than to support the establishment it has set up and protect life and property.

GERMAN PROGRESS

If some one were to give a prize to any nation for the best year of all-round achievement, it looks as if it would have to go to Germany. Germany lost the World War, but has since regained the respect and applause of a large part of the world for its peace-time achievements in many lines.

There was the World four of the Graf Zeppelin which restored waning confidence in lighter-than-air craft of great size. There was the Bremen, the German liner that made a new record for swift Atlantic crossings, and still holds it. The German airplane, DO-X, is another of this year's marvels. It has carried more passengers on a single flight than any other plane up to now. There was a new German cruiser which, while following the restrictions placed upon German warships by the Versailles Treaty, got battleship effectiveness and suggested complete revolution in naval design. There is Dr. Einstein, whose exposition of his new field theory appears to be the outstanding scientific book of the year. Just lately there has been the award of the Nobel prize to a German novelist.

All of these things, to say nothing of economic improvement, political stability and support of peace moves, comprise a rather fine vindication of German character and ability. In the war years we came to believe that German achievement had been greatly overrated. Today it looks as if German achievement in lines other than war-making had merely been obscured by its unwise Prussianism and militarism. There is a lesson for other countries, as well as for Germany herself, in this interesting come-back.

U. S. READY TO JOIN COURT

Acting with characteristic directness and conviction, President Hoover has caused the signing of the world court protocol by the United States. The step followed a letter from Secretary Stimson declaring it safe for the United States to join the court under the terms of the compromise reached by Elihu Root and the other signatories of the court who refused to accept unqualifiedly the senate reservations. We have as a matter of fact surrounded our interests with meticulous precautions against which even a Philadelphia lawyer would find no attack. All the ifs, ands and buts that technicality can devise have been tacked on to our acceptance of this tribunal.

The one remaining difference after we had attached a folio of reservations was over the question of advisory opinions. It is now arranged that in case an advisory opinion is asked by any nation to which the United States objects, it can withdraw from the court without prejudice or obligation if the request is to be entertained. The United States can also prevent the court from acting upon a request for an advisory opinion in which it has or claims an interest.

All of the possible embarrassments that might come to this country from association with the rest of the world in an attempt to adjudicate international differences having been anticipated in full and complete measure, as aforesaid, it was up to the president to take cognizance of his constitutional authority, move, act, sign, seal and deliver American adherence to the aforementioned court.

What the senate will do only God knows. It may have the political recklessness to refuse ratification or to attach additional reservations. We shall have some chauvinistic and comical debate, principally by the objectors. Nevertheless, we are hopeful that the battle for the world court has been won and that at last we are to use our self-respect and integrity as a nation and belatedly come to its support. Our isolationists, militarists and hundred per centers will writhe but we can reconcile ourselves to their suffering in the knowledge that it is good for both them and the country and that eventually it will help to make them better Americans.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Tuberculosis kills more girls between the ages of 15 and 20 than any other disease. Tuberculosis is Wisconsin's greatest maker of orphans because it kills more persons between 20 and 40 than any other disease.

Killing off one out of five who die between the ages of 15 and 45, tuberculosis is the enemy of steady employment, high wages, and prosperity because this disease strikes during the most productive years of life.

These are three reasons why we are buying Christmas Seals. This fund raising campaign has for its purpose a most humanitarian goal—a further reduction in Wisconsin's tuberculosis death rate which has already been cut in half during the past twenty years.

Tuberculosis, which in 1908 was the first cause of death in the state, has been pushed back to seventh rank. The social significance, however, of the costly toll this disease is taking among our young people demands of us that we purchase seals to carry on the educational program which the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association is directing against this preventable and curable disease which took approximately 1700 lives in 1928.

Buying and using Christmas Seals is the way you can place your "stamp" of approval on the anti-tuberculosis campaign. Everyone may have a part in this most democratic campaign to eradicate a disease which is so costly to the state but with which there is so little cost to the individual in buying the penny bullets to carry on the war in which tuberculosis is on the defensive.

Buy Christmas Seals! Fight tuberculosis!

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Abe Harris knows some of the most prominent men, not only of Manhattan, but of other cities as well—business men, politicians, even senators.

For Abe has rented them dinner jackets, full dress suits and sometimes high silk hats. Abe Harris has been renting dress suits for 21 years and for most of that period his shop was situated near the Grand Central Terminal. There it proved convenient for travelers who, on opening their bags, found they had forgot to put in their formal coat, or perhaps the trousers, required for some function they had come to attend.

Or maybe they had received an unexpected invitation to a dinner party. Always, or until 9 p. m. nightly, Abe was ready to supply their sartorial need.

Some of New York's most prominent men, too, have worn rented suits in their poorer days. They still are on the Harris' mailing list, even though they long since have bought their own tuxedos.

RENTED BRIDAL FINERY

The most romantic phase of the rented costume business, however, is the call for wedding gowns.

Dresses hire dresses in three widely separated sections of the city, on the lower east side, in Harlem uptown, and on Broadway. The reason in the first two sections is strictly financial. The people there haven't money to be spent recklessly on a garment that can be worn only once. They may never have occasion to wear an evening gown again. If they do, they can rent it.

Over on Broadway, the lesser stage folk are likewise economical. They may have the price of a wedding gown, but they look upon it as just another costume and a one-performance costume at that. So they rent it as they would a bustle for some ermine opera.

The bride's veil is different. A sentimental regard attaches to the white drapery, and so it usually is bought outright. But even then it's customary to lend the veil to one's friends when they become brides, until as many as five girls wear it in succession.

BUSINESS GOOD

The east side of the island's entire length is plastered with signs proclaiming dress suits for hire. Harris alone rents his about 10,000 times a year. There are fewer renters on the west side. Not so much "society."

Firemen and policemen, who have little use for any kind of civilian clothes, are among the best customers. Announcement of a testimonial dinner, or the dance of some fraternal or religious society, sends them to the dress suit renters in squads.

The club rate is $2 a night per suit. The charge to individuals is $3. Silk hat, shoes and shirts may also be rented, leaving only collar, tie and studs to be purchased. Cutaways and formal morning costumes are in good demand for weddings, receptions to distinguished guests and such occasions.

Seldom does a renter fail to return a suit. As for Harris himself, he has his own, both tail coat and dinner jacket, which he doesn't rent out. But he hasn't worn them since the wedding of his niece last February.

MISSISSIPPI JOINS UNION

On Dec. 10, 1817, the state of Mississippi was admitted to the Union.

The most notable features of Mississippi's first constitution were the high property qualifications for holding office, the short tenure of office, and the large appointing power of the governor and the legislature.

By the treaties of 1830 and 1832, with the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians, who inhabited the northern part of the state, the lands occupied by those tribes were incorporated into the state, subjected to its jurisdiction, and thrown open to settlement by the whites.

Mississippi adopted a new constitution in 1832 abolishing property qualifications for office holding and requiring that all officers, both state and county, should be chosen by the people.

Other constitutions were adopted in 1868 and again in 1890, chiefly as the result of strife concerning negro suffrage.

THE BOYS WERE PUFFED UP BUT NOT DAD

Here's a pretty how-de-do:
Dear doctor:

I am an old man, and have never used tobacco in any form, but I have three boys who acquired the habit with the rest of their high school education and are all trying to smoke their heads off.

One day they took me on a visit to Bedloe's Island to see the Statue of Liberty. It was a Sunday and the elevator was not running. I wanted to go to the top, but the boys said, "Oh, no, father, it is altogether too much of a climb for you." I replied "forget that noise—let's go."

So we went up—and up—and up past the lady's vitals, until we reached the point where we could look upon the world thru her eyes. When we arrived there the boys were out of breath and puffing quite hard; my breathing was quite normal.

"Now, my sons," sezzi, "I don't want to rub it in but I really think you boys ought to see what tobacco has done for you."

Did I do right? (C. C. S.)

Certainly you did right, sir. From the tone of your letter I know you said it in a friendly way, as a pal of the boys. Your mistake, if any, was in permitting the boys to take up the tobacco habit when they were of high school age.

There is ground for debate, among the doctors, about the effect of moderate or temperate use of tobacco for grown-ups. There is no denying the fact that tobacco is injurious to a youth.

Let me quote a paragraph from a recent report on a study of the composition of cigarette smoke by Dr. Emil Bogen, of Cincinnati:

"Under ordinary conditions, many competent observers have failed to note any deleterious effects whatever from the use of cigarettes. Certain conditions, however, have been so frequently associated with the practice of smoking that the causal connection seems indisputable. Cardiac arrhythmias, shortness of breath, thrombo-angitis obliterans, nicotine amblyopia and chronic inflammation of the upper respiratory passages are familiar examples. . . . Cardiac arrhythmias are irregularities of heart action; thrombo-angitis obliterans is a type of painful gangrene of the feet generally if not always found in young Jewish men who are excessive cigarette smokers; nicotine amblyopia is partial blindness attributable to chronic tobacco poisoning."

Here's a good test for any smoker who would like to check the effect of the tobacco on his heart: A normal man or woman ought to be able to run a mile in ten minutes, but running all the way if he has to break into a walk or even stop to get your breath, your heart is not normal.

Dr. Bogen concludes that "A sound individual may bear what is for him moderate doses without injury, but even these are often noxious for the unaccustomed or for other sound individuals. But the immediate use of tobacco brings on a series of disturbances which are at first functional, then organic, and of which some are not without gravity."

My own arbitrary rule is that temperate smoking means not more than three smokes in a day. It also means that the smoker does not require a smoke in work or play hours, but is content to enjoy his daily smoke after the day's work or play is over.

By drinking two quarts of milk a day for the last six months I have gained about 30 pounds. My previous weight was never more than 165 to 168 pounds, which made me a

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT C. PLUMMER

Washington—Short, dark, always immaculately groomed, Manuel C. Tellez looks after the interests of Mexico in Washington from the great mansion at the crest of Sixteenth street.

For four years he has borne the title of ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the United States—the most important post in the Mexican diplomatic service.

Early in 1920 Ambassador Tellez, a career diplomat—will reach the pinnacle of his career. When Sir Esme Howard quits as Great Britain's ambassador to the United States, Tellez becomes dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington. Dr. Hernan Velarde, Peruvian ambassador, is next in line, but he has already announced that he is to quit his post.

A coveted honor among diplomats is the deanship. Especially is it to be desired by a Mexican ambassador.

DIPLOMAT AT 21

Senior Tellez is more than the mere correct product of foreign office training. Diplomacy claimed him at the age of 21, and he saw service in Japan, China and other countries before coming to Washington as first secretary of the Mexican embassy in 1920.

Still in his early forties, Ambassador Tellez has the energy and initiative of youth. He is a diplomat of the democratic humanitarian order. Since he has been ambassador his embassy has been a sort of clearing house for American culture for Mexico.

There has been many innovations under his regime which have tended to make diplomacy more practical than is usual. One of his greatest attributes as his lively sense of humor and his keen sense of humor.

There are few of the corps who are more human than Senior Tellez and his wit can be attested by everyone who has come in contact with him.

Quite familiar is the story of how he successfully eluded newspapermen in cities half-way cross the United States when he was called to Mexico on a secret mission.

ELUSIVE

Tellez is pronounced as if it were spelled "Tay-z."

On this hurried trip to Mexico, the Mexican ambassador's train stopped at Chicago. One reporter came in to him, looking first at a photograph and then at the ambassador.

"Are you the Mexican minister?" he inquired.

"Never knew Mexico had a minister," Tellez replied, and the reporter passed him by.

At San Antonio much the same thing happened, and he succeeded in getting across into his country without being interviewed.

Tellez is a musician of ability and as one of the most enthusiastic patrons of art and letters in the national capital. He also has a hobby of collecting antiques, and the Mexican embassy on Sixteenth street is filled with rare pieces he has acquired.

Due to his efforts there has been installed in the embassy what is known as the Mexican room. It is a spot of rare beauty.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBERT COONS

Hollywood—The film colony's pet superstition, "Don't light three on a match," is assigned a new origin by someone who denies that it arose in the war.

My informant avers that the superstition results only from an unique selling campaign. True or otherwise, his explanation is interesting:

A prominent eastern clubman, after wading through a large fortune and finding himself penniless went to a match company and offered to increase its sales by one-third within a certain period of months. He was to receive a stipulated sum if successful. The unusual scheme was accepted.

So he went forth, not to the trade marts, but to his clubs and into society and wherever he went, gasped with excitement whenever he saw three cigars being lighted on one match. "Don't do that," he would whisper, "it's bad luck!"

He was, results proved, widely acquainted. The company's match sales sales jumped higher than he had promised and he won his reward.

Well, that's the yarn—take it or leave it.

MURDERS—UP AND DOWN

In the fact of all the efforts to uplift the movies, some may be justifiably startled to note that after one company announced it would film "Murder on the Roof," another now heralds a new production to be called "Murder on the Second Floor"—a lower homicidal form by at least a couple of flights.

At any rate, Loretta Young and Sidney Blackmer are to appear in the latter.

The prophet is not always without honor at home.

Someone who attended Grinnell college with Gary Cooper recalls the excitement in the little Iowa town when Gary first appeared on the local screen.

His first bit was no sensation anywhere else, but there it was a gala event. He appeared for a few seconds in Clara Dow's "It," but that was enough.

THE HOMETOWN HERO

One of the boys chanced to see the matinee, and hurried back to the campus to spread the news. That night the theatre was packed with students.

And when "The Winning of Barbara Worth" came along, with Gary in his first featured role, the show-house did not miss its opportunity. Dodgers flooded the town and campus proclaiming: "Grinnell's Own Star—Gary Cooper in 'The Winning of Barbara Worth!'"

And—perhaps as an afterthought—was added: "With Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky!"

STATE IMPROVING AS BIG SOURCE OF GOOD DAIRY COWS

85,170 Shipped to Eastern,
Mid-western Districts in Past Year

Shipping 85,170 dairy cows to eastern and mid-western whole milk districts, during the past year, Wisconsin is rapidly increasing in importance as a source of desirable dairy animals, according to I. F. Hall, farm management expert at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

"Despite heavy freight rates, out-of-state buyers can pay good prices for Wisconsin cattle. Holstein milk testing 3.3 per cent butterfat sold for $3.33 a hundred during October in New York; Wisconsin farmers obtained but $2.19 for average milk that month.

"Raising dairy heifers for those men who are situated near more favorable markets seem to be a profitable venture for Badger dairymen. Buyers want good quality cattle, but they cannot afford to pay high freight rates on second rate or old cows," says Hall.

He emphasizes the undesirability of raising calves that lack breediness and high producing ancestry. Rather than raising inferior calves, he advised farmers to buy surplus heifers from high producing well bred herds. Often these calves can be purchased for very low prices. Where such conditions prevail, Hall sees no excuse for accepting less worthy future foundation stock.

"To raise a good big husky two-year old heifer it costs eastern dairymen around $150.00; Wisconsin dairymen can turn out a similar animal for $105.75, according to cost accounts kept on Badger farms.

"Eastern dairymen are now paying from $185 to $209 a head for exceptionally good grade cows. Plain cows average around $125 to $150. It costs but little more to feed one kind than the other. The cost of either kind at veal age is about the same," suggests Hall.

Wisconsin farmers' received an average of $108 a head for all cattle marketed either for slaughter or milk production during the past year, Hall's studies indicate.

"If history repeats, dairy cow prices should balance up well with the prices received from other farm stock. During the years past, dairy cattle prices have followed pretty definite cycles. The cycles average 15 years for their completion.

"Prices might be expected to reach their peak about 1939 or 31 if previous cycles are repeated. Previous high points in dairy cattle price curves during the last 50 years were reached in 1885, 1899 and 1915. The next high point is due about 1939 or 31," Hall reiterates.

Man Returned from New Zealand Refuses to Discuss Texas Charges

Temple, Tex. — (AP) — A. B. Crouch, who was arrested in Helensville, New Zealand, after evading the law for 13 years was returned to Temple to face 15 indictments for forging as many grain bills of lading. He immediately made bond of $10,000. Crouch, known in Helensville as "Honest John" was reported to have made $150,000 from his alleged forgeries. The money was used in establishing a ranch at the end of his flight from justice, authorities say, and he prospered rapidly.

He assumed the name of John Grey. At the time of his arrest Crouch was discussed as a potential candidate for mayor of Helensville. He was an officer of his church, director of several businesses and four sons were in school or participating with him in management of their large ranch.

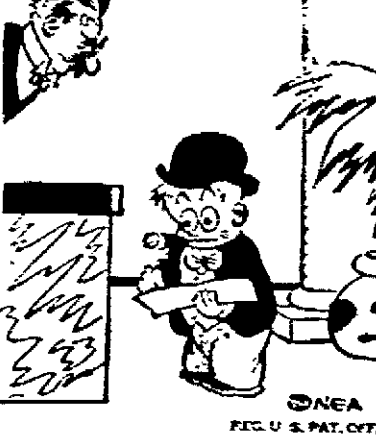

His identification by a private detective, which was confirmed by Sheriff Bigham, who made the trip when advised that Crouch had been located.

Bond was awaiting him when he arrived here. It had been posted by businessmen of McGregor, where he formerly lived. This listed sureties of more than $500,000. No date has been set for the trial.

BY AILEEN LAMONT

Copyright, 1929 by Cons. Press

New York — Every day or so a new shade for evening wear bobs up, each more enticing than its predecessor. Violet — a true, luscious violet tone, exquisite in satins and velvets — is one. Others are the old-fashioned, rich magenta, the dashing new tint of powder blue, and a lovely primrose yellow. There is continually more of the café crème which looks rich as coffee with real cream in it, and the alabaster lace evening gown is here again.

The Parisienne is wearing her stockings with a difference. She is matching her hose to her evening cloak and achieving such effects as

Capital Feels Need Of Wisconsin State Society

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor)

Washington—Wisconsin people in Washington felt the lack of a state society in the national capital perhaps more keenly during the past week than they have for many months. No less than 11 state societies have either entertained during the week or announced future entertainments.

There was at one time a Wisconsin State Society in Washington but it disbanded many years ago and has never been reorganized. There is some agitation in the capital now in favor of forming a new society and several members of the Congressional delegation have expressed their interest in the project.

What has always been the most brilliant White House function, the state reception for the Diplomatic Corps, was to have taken place Thursday night, but was, of course, postponed because of the official society is mourning not only officially but personally for Secretary Good and the real season has not begun.

There are, however, many debutante coming-out parties and teas although most of them are somewhat simplified.

Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, wife of Representative Cooper of Racine, attended the tea at which Representative and Mrs. Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey presented their daughter, Miss Catherine Starr Eaton. She attended also the coming-out tea of Miss Barbara Vandenberg, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, the first debutante of the year from the Senatorial circle.

Mrs. John J. Blaine, wife of Senator Blaine, who was expected to attend, was unable to do so because of a severe cold.

Mrs. Cooper was a guest on Friday at the tea given by Representative and Mrs. Henry W. Watson of Pennsylvania, for Mrs. Watson's debutante daughter, Miss Janet Ball.

ATTEND GRID GAME
Representative John C. Schafer of Milwaukee spent his Thanksgiving weekend in New York and attended the Army-Notre Dame game. Mr. and Mrs. George Vitis of Manitowish and their daughter, Katharine, also attended the game. Miss Katharine is a first-year student at Mary Mont College near New York City. Mr. Vitis is Republican National Committeeman from Wisconsin.

Among the Wisconsin members attending the first tea of the Congressional club's winter season on Friday evening, Mrs. E. Browne, wife of Representative Browne of Wisconsin, Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, Mrs. Merdin Hull, wife of the new representative from Black River Falls, her daughter, Miss Lois Hull, and Mrs. John C. Schafer.

The tea was given in honor of the new members of the Congressional club. Wives of representatives are eligible to become active members and daughters may become associate members. Mrs. Hull is the only new member from Wisconsin. Miss Lois Hull is a new associate member.

Although Mrs. Browne is the senior Wisconsin member of the club considering the length of her husband's continuous service, Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper has been a member for a longer period, and was, indeed, one of the 12 founders of the club 22 years ago. Representative Cooper has served more terms than any other member of Congress, but his 13 terms, now nearly 56 years in Congress, were not continuous. Representative Florence P. Kahn of California is the only other founder who is still a member of the club.

Mrs. Edward E. Browne of Vaucluse, who is the wife of the present member of the club, attended the meeting on Thursday of the Twentieth Century club of which she is a member. A lunch followed the meeting.

She also attended a meeting on Wednesday of the Garden club of Chevy Chase, Maryland, in which she is also interested.

Miss Thida E. Nelson, sister of Representative John H. Nelson of Madison, had an interesting overnight visit last week. Miss Minnie Moses, for 38 years a teacher in the girls' Lutheran mission school in Duntur, India, visited Miss Nelson Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Nelson, who has herself done much work in India, was the principal of the Duntur school from 1914 to 1921 and Miss Moses was a member of her teaching staff. The Duntur school combines grade and high school and is attended by 540 Indian girls.

Miss Moses was given her trip to this country by her friends in India. She is speaking in many churches as she travels. She will leave the United States on December 14, but may visit England before returning to India.

Miss Nelson had another guest last week, Mrs. Pearl Grable of Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Grable was on her way to Florida and could stay only three days.

Miss Shirley Schafer, age 11, the sub-sub-deb daughter of Representative and Mrs. John C. Schafer of Milwaukee, attended the tea dance Saturday given by the Congressional club's dancing class for children of its members. The class meets every Saturday afternoon.

Representative and Mrs. Florian Lampert of Os' sh. have a new grandson, Mrs. Arthur Fisher, the baby's mother, was formerly Miss Jessie Lampert, Representative and Mrs. Lampert's youngest daughter.

The baby, a tiny one weighing only 6 pounds and 11 ounces, was born at Providence hospital in Washington on November 30.

Douglas Hartman of Watertown, secretary to Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton, spent his Thanksgiving holidays in Boston. On Nov. 20, he attended the wedding of a brother member of Theta Upsilon Omega Fraternity at Yarmouth, N. Y., and then rushed to the Army-Notre Dame game in New York.

Miss Betty Peoples, a member of the June 1929 graduating class at the University of Wisconsin and now living in Washington, entertained at bridge, Thursday evening. Miss Peoples was a member of Delta Zeta sorority at the university.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

YOU couldn't wait? What a wonderful interest you have in the institution, Mr. Foster," Sarah Slade's sugar-coated voice and her waiting downstairs to see her. "Do come up."

"If he does, Sue will have to go into the bedroom," Grace said quickly. "He'll know it's a scheme if he finds her here. I'll be the witness."

A knock sounded on the door.

Sue, who had slipped into the adjoining room, heard John Foster's voice explaining that he had taken the liberty of bringing Martin Clinger, his attorney, along.

"There are 50 women in the home," he said, "I was wondering how much money you wanted to spend?"

"I think that $100 for expenses, and perhaps $2 apiece for each of them, would be enough," Sarah said. "I hadn't thought about giving that much, though. But I'll do it."

"It's very little from your point of view," the wheedling voice coaxed. "And it will be good newspaper publicity," Clinger added.

"Miss Slade is on an income," Grace interposed for her. "I think that $100 is enough for her to spend."

"No, I'll give $200. I'm going to leave everything up to you, Mr. Foster. You'll help, won't you, Mr. Clinger?" She flashed him a dazzling smile that revealed hidden dimples in her cheeks. "Send me the receipt bills and everything will be fine. That's fair enough, isn't it?"

"We'll be delighted to be entrusted with your plans," Foster agreed.

"By the way, could you and Miss Clinger take lunch with Mr. Foster and me some day this week?" Martin Clinger asked when the check was ready.

"We'll be glad to," Sarah answered. "The ball is rolling," Sarah said when the men had left and Sue was in the living room again. "I'll never see the receipted bills because the prices will be about half of what he'll charge me. He will get some rebates, too, since the home is a charitable institution. I'll have to do a little detective work and find out what he buys and where, and collect the bills. What are you doing, Grace?"

Grace was opening the telephone directory. "I'm going to call that home and prove that there aren't 50 inmates." She turned away from the telephone jubilantly a minute later. "Sarah Slade, there are 34 women living there now. Mark my word, the day of the party, that man will tell you that the other 16 are spending their vacations with Cousin Mary or Aunt Esther. I know his kind. First, we're going to flatter him to death on that luncheon date. We'll find out what he's going to buy and, if possible, where. And finally—Martin Clinger is going to tell on Foster to get out of the scrape himself!"

The telephone rang and Sarah answered. "For you, Grace," she said, as she handed the phone to her.

NEXT: Jimmy calls for Grace.

ORGAN RECITAL IS PRESENTED MONDAY NIGHT

An organ recital, characterized by delicate play of contrast in program building and by colorful registrations was presented by William C. Webb, F. R. C. O., English organist of the conservatory faculty, at the Methodist church last evening. Webb was assisted by Dr. Carl J. Waterman, tenor, who sang a group of solos from Schubert, Handel, R. Vaughan Williams, and Bizet, which won immediate response.

Bach's "Toccata and Fugue in D minor" of difficult architectural structure, demanding unusual wrist dexterity and agility of finger movement, found its complement in the smoother rhythm of "Andante con Valzoni" by Rea, which was especially well handled.

In the two companion pieces presented as the third number, "Humoresque" was balanced by "Capriccio" by Kinder. Both were marked by good variety in registration. "The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre" by Russell, a descriptive sketch of a mass in the Quebec cathedral on the historic St. Lawrence, was clearly defined as a "tone poem" against the background of effect created by the livelier melodies of "Festival Prelude and Fantasia" by Faulkes. The "Festival Prelude" was written commemorating the 40th anniversary of the publication of Luther's catechism, Nov. 1539.

"Then, rising from the gentler theme of Russell's 'tone poem' the nicely contrasted 'Festival Toccata'" by Fletcher, of greater technical intricacies, concluded the recital.

Dr. Waterman opened his vocal group with a Schubert song, "To Music," followed by a selection from Handel, "Would you gain the tender creature" (Acis and Galatea). "Linden Lea" by R. Vaughan Williams was the third number while the group was concluded with Donizetti's "Spirto Santo" (La Pastorale). Both Professor Webb and Dr. Waterman answered enthusiastic recalls with encore numbers.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE overall the Tynites drew were very cute and lovely blue. "Oh, my," said Copsy. "these are great. And mine fit me just right. I feel just like a working man and with these on, I'll bet I can do much more than my share. Why I can work all day and night."

"Me, too," cried Copsy. "I feel proud and happy that I am allowed to help old Santa make nice things to pack into his sleigh. Now that we're all fixed up all right we all will work with all our might. If we're to meet kind Santa, come let us be on our way."

Just then a mama doll came near. "Oh, goodness, isn't she a dear," said Copsy. "Maybe I will like the work here, after all. When little dolls like that are near, I'm always happy, never fear." And then he grabbed the doll because he thought "was going to fall."

The doll just smiled and said "Don't fret! I've never fallen over yet. Oh, my, I've learned just to stand and let's of things since I was born. They've taught me how to stand and walk and also how to smile and talk. I only hope I'll please some little girl on Christmas morn."

"But, my, we're wasting time galore. A very wondrous treat is in store." A voice then said, "Be on your way." It was a little elf, who added, "Follow her now, boys. She'll take you to the land of toys. And, in it, you are going to meet old Santa Claus himself."

"Hip, hip, hurrah!" the Tynites

Washington—(AP)—Hand-to-mouth buying, once feared and distrusted by the radio manufacturers, is credited today with being a prime factor in sustaining the sales of radio equipment.

The radio manufacturers and dealers, reacting to the expressions of alarm at the time of the acute drop in stocks, felt some alarm as to maintenance of sales volume. Some were preparing to curtail production or reduce pay rolls. But this apprehension was found unwarranted.

Dealers, on the other hand, complained bitterly at reports of curtailment. Seven of the leading manufacturers that they needed sales in undiminished volume to meet current demands.

Sales, according to manufacturing companies, have been almost unchanged. The three largest manufacturers are turning out just about as many sets as in the third quarter. The only difficulty is that profit margins have been somewhat diminished. Seven of the leading manufacturers, according to government officials here, have reduced prices. The average reduction, it is asserted, was 22 per cent. While sales did not increase under this spur, they are being maintained undiminished.

HOLD RECORD REMARKABLE

This, it is felt in business circles, is a remarkable record considering circumstances. Nearly all the leading economists expressed themselves as apprehensive that radio sales would suffer for receiving sets were among these commodities listed as luxuries. Government officials attribute the resisting power of the industry to the fact that knock-in the hands of manufacturers and dealers were not burdensome.

Sales of radio equipment for the first three-quarters of the year totaled $260,597,207. It is estimated that when the fourth quarter opened, dealers had only to do about 45 per cent of the volume of business they piled up in each of the three previous quarters to bring total annual sales to a new record figure. It is now extremely likely that with the Christmas sales to aid, this new record will be reached. Some manufacturers will exceed 1928 sales by a large margin.

One of the largest makers has increased production by 100 per cent since the temporary slump in the last weeks of October and first half of November. The call for tubes and accessories also has continued heavy and foreign sales have increased to a point where they are a real factor in the ear-marking of inventories.

STOCKS LIGHT AT CRASH

Had the stocks on hand been heavy when the break in Wall Street occurred, there seems little doubt that the industry would have received a severe blow. As it was, curbed demand necessitated continued steady production. The small size of the orders and the frequency of reorders and shipments enabled both manufacturers and dealers to meet all demands without tying up of large sums of money over long periods and to stabilize order flow.

Installation buying of radio sets also is held to have aided the maintenance of volume. New buyers have defaulted on payments and the desire to buy on time payments has shown no signs of diminishing.

Competition is tightening in the radio industry but efficiency is increasing and costs are being reduced.

NEW GRAND JURY PROBE SEEN IN MYSTERY CASE

Mountain View, Ark.—(AP)—The appearance of a young man, who related details of the conspiracy of Tiller, Rutherford, and said he was her missing son, Connie Franklin, has caused Prosecutor Hugh Williamson to consider a new grand jury investigation of the girl's story that five men tortured Franklin to death last March.

The girl was a witness some time ago before a grand jury which indicted the five men and the prosecutor said he would proceed to bring them to trial next week on murder charges because Tiller and her father refuse to accept the young man as Franklin. The grand jury will convene at the same time, however, Williamson declared, and in event the young man is identified positively as Franklin an inquiry will be started in an effort to learn why the charges were brought.

Williamson said the youth had partially satisfied him as being the Connie Franklin who was engaged to marry Tiller when he suddenly disappeared from the community. He said he had summoned a friend of Franklin's from Oklahoma to assist in settling the question.

Stories of John Chausse, a mountaineer, and Rubin Harrell, a deaf mute youth, who said they were witnesses to the killing of Franklin, also may be investigated Williamson said.

Attorneys for the five men have charged that the case was the outcome of an old feud, the nature of which they would not disclose.

Many authorities, however, still maintain that additional mergers will come as a result of conditions now existing in the industry.

Receive Supply of New Christmas Package Address Labels Here

In anticipation of a substantial Christmas business this year, the Railway Express Agency has prepared more than 1,000,000 special holiday package address labels for distribution to express shippers during the next few weeks according to William M. Kimball, the agent. The purpose is to encourage early shipping and good packing and proper preparation of Christmas gift packages.

San Francisco—(AP)—

Two Pacific coast cabin companies, equipped to handle the storms of the frozen Arctic, were at this field today awaiting the arrival of landing ships from Seattle before being shipped to the north, where they will be used in the search for Pilot Carl Eierson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, lost somewhere on the Bering sea coast.

Edward Lowe, Fairchild Aviation corporation representative here, said the planes would be sent as soon as the extra landing equipment arrived. Cabins of the planes, equipped with a special heating system and capable of carrying a crew of seven, are constructed to withstand the rigorous weather conditions of the frozen wastes.

ANNOUNCE AIDS THIS WEEK TO SCHOOLS

Madison—(AP)—The state department of public instruction is expected to announce the appointment of federal aids to school districts this week. Workers in the department have practically completed lists of the aids, after surveying the number of teachers and amounts of operating expense in each district.

Appointment will be under the 1927 "Callahan law" whereby support from the state for western districts was reduced and added to the support given poorer districts.

Facts About City Manager Government

Big Health Program In Janesville

Readers of the Post-Crescent no doubt will be interested to learn that the city of Janesville under a city manager plan of government, which approximately $241,000 is spent for all city purposes, is doing for its people in the way of a health and sanitation program. Comparison with Appleton under this score is difficult because of different methods of apportioning the problem.

Janesville has no poor problem because the care of the poor is a county function and the cost is not reflected in the city budget except an item of $800 to care for transient cases. In Appleton, however, the city takes care of the poor and as a result there is an appropriation of $10,000 for the poor department which Janesville does not have.

The city of Janesville, however, appropriated $20,000 for a health work in the city as against $7,500 charged against Appleton's city budget.

Janesville employs a physician who is paid $2,000 a year and who is spending almost full time on his job as city health officer. His staff consists of three visiting nurses who also are school nurses and the board of education does not hire the nurses as is done here. Janesville also employs a full time case worker to enable its unfortunates to get on their financial feet and as a result there is very little appeal to the county for support for the poor.

In addition the city maintains a rest room for women, with a woman in charge, in the downtown business section, extends $2,000 city aid on a year to Mercy hospital and operates a detention hospital. The city also publishes a total of $10,000 for a sanitary inspector for the collection of garbage and the streets. A full time sanitary engineer is employed by the health department to keep up its records and the city operates a free clinic for children of pre-school age every second week. Last year about 2,000 children were examined at this clinic which is conducted by the city physician assisted by the nurses and women from the city. The city also has a free ambulance service for the sick and injured, which is operated by the health department. The ambulance is a small car with a canvas top, the cost of which is charged to the street department. At Janesville is a goodly number of health services that Appleton is not afforded, despite its much smaller total cost of government.

This comparison will be made in another article.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HOLD UP BANKING AVERAGE

Despite the fact that Christmas is less than a month away, Appleton school children are holding up the banking average. A report of the Appleton branch of the Federal Reserve bank, dated December 10, 1929, shows that the average amount of money held by school children in Appleton is $1.50. This is a record for the city, and is a reflection of the fact that the children are being taught the value of money.

The report also shows that the average amount of money held by school children in Appleton is $1.50. This is a record for the city, and is a reflection of the fact that the children are being taught the value of money.

ROAD COMMISSION DEFINES PARKING AND STOPPING LAWS

Stop Vehicle Off of Highway
Whenever Possible, Highway Body Says

EDITOR'S NOTE: The seventh of a series of nine articles on the new state traffic code prepared by the Wisconsin highway commission deals with parking and stopping. The last two articles will appear in the Post-Crescent this week.

Madison—(P)—Exact definitions of parking and stopping as used in the new traffic code are explained by the Wisconsin highway commission as follows:

"Parking is defined as the stopping or standing of a vehicle, whether occupied or not, upon a highway, otherwise than temporarily, while actually engaged in loading or unloading, when making necessary repairs, or in obedience to traffic regulations or official traffic signs or signals."

"Parking or stopping is prohibited on highways outside of business or residence districts when it is practical to park or stop off the roadway. In no case must a vehicle be parked or stopped, whether attended or unattended, within a clear unobstructed width of at least 15 feet is left for the free passage of vehicles or unless a clear view of the vehicle may be had from 200 feet in each direction."

"It is unlawful to park in a loading or unloading alley in a business district; within 15 feet of the entrance to a fire station or directly across the street from the entrance; closer than 10 feet to a fire hydrant or within the marked parking limit if marked farther away than 10 feet; in front of a private highway or alley; in front of a school house on the near side of the street between 8 a. m. and four-thirty p. m. during school days; closer than 15 feet to a cross-walk or within two feet of another vehicle if parked parallel to the curb."

"Official 'no parking' signs or other official signs regulating parking must be obeyed."

"In general, parking must be parallel to the curb except where angle parking is indicated and in such cases it must conform to the marking. Except on one-way street, vehicles may not park on the left side. Vehicles may not park on sidewalk areas unless permitted by local authorities. Parking vehicles for sale on a highway is prohibited. Traffic officers may move vehicles parking or standing on a highway in violation of law, or require the operator to move them. Vehicles may not stop in the highway intersection, on a cross-walk, within a safety zone and the adjacent curb, or within 15 feet of the safety zone. Vehicles may not stop or park on a sidewalk or side-walk area, or any highway excavation or obstruction, when stopping, standing or parking will obstruct traffic or when this will require pedestrian traffic to travel in the roadway. Vehicles may not stop or park upon any portion of a hill or curve outside of a business or residence district, or on the roadway side of any parked vehicle unless double parking is clearly permitted by official markers or traffic signs."

YOUNG GIRL TO BECOME OWNER OF $1,000,000

Denver—(P)—An 11-year-old Denver girl has become the eventual owner of a million dollar fortune, the foundation of which was laid in a cubby-hole since shop. In Colorado's early days, by a court decision in her favor and against an aunt and uncle who contested the will of the girl's grandmother.

By the terms of the will Josephine Barth, granddaughter of Mrs. Georgia A. Barth, inherits the fortune after the deaths of her father, Mr. Allen Barth, Mrs. Alice Houghton, of Golden Hill, Mass., and James B. Rhodus, Denver, provided she is then 80 years old.

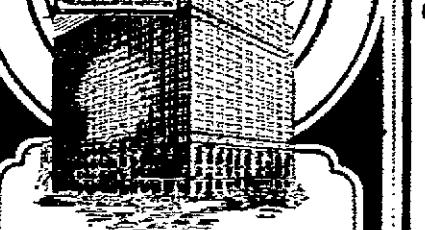

Meanwhile, the estate is held in trust, and the income from it is divided equally among the three. Mrs. Houghton and Rhodus, children of Josephine's grandmother by a previous marriage, contended in contesting the will that the girl's father, Mr. Allen Barth, unduly influenced his mother-in-law in the will.

The girl's grandfather started building his fortune as a young German emigrant making hoo-nailed boots for miners. He died in 1913. His widow died Oct. 2, 1928.

"I had taken this wonderful Konjola, I am feeling better than I have felt for years," said Mrs. J. M. Thorpe, 423 Erie street, Missouri Valley, Ia. "My stomach had given me trouble for many years. Gas would form and I would have a burning feeling in my stomach. My kidneys and liver became affected. I would ache all over and at times I would become dizzy. My arms became stiff and sore with rheumatism. My condition grew worse right along."

"I had taken Konjola but a short time until I began to feel better. My stomach trouble was overcome. I do not have gas pains nor that burning feeling any more. I am not constipated as I was. I have not had a dizzy spell for some time. Rheumatism has left my arms. In fact there is not an ache or pain in my body."

Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schiltz Bros. drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

ANOTHER QUICK VICTORY SCORED BY NEW KONJOLA

Troubles of Long Standing
Quickly Relieved by Master
Medicine, Says Missouri Lady

Madison—(P)—Justices of the Wisconsin Supreme court do not always sit silently behind the long mahogany table at which learned counsel argue. They are not always dour, uncommunicative. Arthur A. McLeod, chief clerk of the high court, in a recent address here, told of one of the examples of good humor in the high court room.

Chief Justice Cassoday, who served years ago, a gentleman of the old school, very aristocratic in manner and very strict and punctual regarding rules of the court, would, according to McLeod, stop an attorney in the middle of the word "it" when the hour of 5 p. m. arrived.

"One day in the court room when Justice Cassoday was presiding," McLeod said, Pat Martin, Green Bay attorney, was arguing a case against some purchaser of furs. The question arose as to the value of the furs and their compliance with the contract of purchase therefor. After bantering back and forth for some time between the chief justice and Mr. Martin, the chief justice suggested that probably the best opinion on the matter could be received from the ladies.

"Mr. Martin immediately retorted: 'I will refer the matter to the ladies.' Whereupon Judge Dodge, the only bachelor on the bench, came back quicker than a flash with the statement: 'Mr. Martin, I regret that I have no access to your authorities.'"

HANTSCHER ASKED FOR DATA ON COUNTY WORK

John E. Hantscher, county clerk, is asked in a letter from Governor Walter J. Kohler to submit information regarding the amount of public improvement planned by Outagamie county next year. Governor Kohler said he is gathering the information to be submitted to President Hoover in conjunction with the president's efforts to stimulate business. Mr. Hantscher is asked to tell how much the county will spend on roads, on new buildings, and on other public improvements.

SEEK WISCONSIN EXHIBIT FOR FAIR

Badger Project at World Show Will Be Sponsored by Chamber of Commerce

Madison — The Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce is urging a complete Wisconsin exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1933. This decision was reached by the Board of Directors of the State Chamber as a result of recommendations submitted to it from the state advertising conference held at the chamber's first annual meeting recently.

"Our directors feel that the coming fair at Chicago will offer a fine opportunity for Wisconsin to present her recreational, industrial and agricultural advantages to a large number of people, most of them coming from those districts from which our state must draw its patronage," said E. H. Krueger, general secretary. "We are strongly in favor of a Wisconsin exhibit at Chicago in 1933 and our organization, through its committee on Advertising Wisconsin, will do everything possible in support of such an effort."

The directors of the chamber also adopted a resolution endorsing Wisconsin's third annual goal will tour, a train trip from Milwaukee to New Orleans, February 23 to March 5.

Mr. Krueger stated that the directors were greatly pleased with the interest aroused throughout the state on its program for state advertising. An active committee to promote this phase of the chamber's activities is now in process of formation. As has been previously announced, the chamber contemplates a budget of $100,000 to finance its first year's work in promoting Wisconsin.

A system of canals to connect the Elbe, Ode and Danube rivers has been planned by the government of Czechoslovakia.

Many Stars Missing As Valley Cage Teams Practice

APPLETON, SHIPS ARE HIT HARDEST BY GRADUATIONS

Conference Will Open Dec. 20 With Orange at Marinette

WITH the conference season scheduled to open earlier than in past seasons, coaches of Fox River valley schools are driving large basketball squads through light preparatory practices.

A special ruling accounts for the earlier opening, when Appleton and Marinette meet Dec. 20 whereas other seasons have started after the first of the year.

The round-robin schedule employed in the conference calls for games with five conference opponents for each of the eight member quintets.

Manitowish, 1929 champion, suffers severely through loss of stars. Captain Les Kupke and Adolph Gorychala, all-conference forward and center, respectively, a year ago, have graduated. Dick Verieg, Erwin Klusmeyer and George Iselmann are others who will be missed. Francis Galbraith, forward, Bears, Day, is also returning members who are expected to form a nucleus for Coach Rex John's team.

Appleton and east, runners-up for the title in 1929, will be strong, it appears from indications. Appleton has lost some real stars in Konitz, Gochbauer, Rafath and Schaeffer, but has Norman Berg, the valley's leading scorer last season, Al Breck, and a host of promising new players to build on. East will find difficulty in replacing Rogers and Meyers, but appears to have capable men upon whom to call to plug the gaps. Daman and Becker are veterans who will be available for duty.

Oshkosh, fourth-place winner a year ago, will pin hopes on Captain Struifling, center or guard and Barlow and Knudson, guard and center respectively.

Coach Jack Nussbaum will need a brace of keen-eyed forwards if the blue is to be a contender. Tachob, Leifson and Pugh, all-offense men, are gone.

Fond du Lac will suffer heavy losses in February when Mullin and Hummel graduate. Captain Tolman should be one of the outstanding guards in the conference and there are several other veterans back.

Marinette will present an inexperienced team, it is expected, but several of the 1929 sharpshooters will return to make trouble. West Green Bay should be much improved, with an intact green squad benefited by additional experience.

Much of Sheboygan's chances depend on the condition of Captain C. W. Gorman, fastest forward in the valley. Green Bay broke a leg in the football season and recovery has been slow. February graduation losses will be heavy.

Chicago — (AP) — The Western conference faculty committee on athletics has decided Iowa is athletic ally of the Big Ten Jan. 1, but the conference will not be a league.

Iowa, seeking to establish athletic relations with schools outside the Big Ten, faces the possibility of an alumni revolt against the administration of the school. Superior Court Judge M. L. McKinley of Chicago, a former head of the Iowa Alumni association, has asked that the Iowa state board of education investigate, not only the department of athletics, but causes of "dissemination and discord" that has existed in departments of the university, other than athletic.

Judge McKinley's charges were aimed at President Walter Jessup of the University of Iowa, who he said had worked against the alumni, and against the Iowa state board of education, he said, to offer assistance in Iowa's athletic troubles.

The question of a desire "for larger gate receipts" as a factor in severing athletic relations with Iowa, was denied by two Western conference athletic men. Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, said the loss of Iowa from the Michigan football schedule next season would be a financial loss. He said the game, to have been played at Iowa city, would have drawn anything Michigan will be able to arrange for the open date.

Trojans work hard for Carnegie Tech

Los Angeles — (AP) — With ten graduation clashes behind them and two more in the offing, the university of Southern California football players today settled down in earnest preparation for their game Saturday with Carnegie Tech.

Dummy scrimmage was held yesterday by the Trojans, who worked until dark on plays of the invaders. Coach Howard Jones gave his players warning that in their anticipation of the tournament of rose color, with the unbeaten Panthers of Pittsburgh, they must overlook the impending battle with the Tarzans.

Brute Trafton wants to meet Art Shires

Chicago — (AP) — Red Grange, the once "Gallop and Ghost" of college football, has turned to managing fighters. He has taken over the affairs of George Trafton, gym center of the Chicago Bears Professional football team, and has directed Trafton's first challenge at Arthur The Great Shires.

PACKERS HOME AMONG CHEERS OF 5,000 FANS

Green Bay — (AP) — Green Bay's victorious Packers, winners of the National Professional Football league title, were well embarked today on a program of banquets and meetings designed to honor them for their successful season.

When their train pulled in at the station last night from Chicago, where they Sunday defeated the Bears to end the season with a 1-0 loss, more than 5,000 citizens roared a welcome. Every whistle in town was tied down; sirens shrieked and auto horns tooted as they were paraded through the business section.

Green Bay Pro Champs Win Twelve Straight

Green Bay's professional champions as shown above: First row, left to right—Captain "Curly" Lambeau, Paul Minnick (Iowa), Bo Molenda (Michigan), "Bulter" Baker (California), Eddie Kotal (Lawrence), Red Dunn (Marquette), Dick O'Donnell (Minnesota), Gus Michaleske (Penn State), Bill Kern (Ohio), Whitey Woodin (Marquette), Carl Lindberg (Minnesota). Back row, left to right—Cal Hubbard (Geneva), Hurdus McCrary (Ashmore), Tom Nash (Georgia), Bernard Darling (Beloit), Claude Perry (Alabama), Red Smith (Notre Dame), Verne Lewellen (Nebraska), Roger Ashmore (Gonzaga), Johnny Blood (Minnesota), Jim Bowdoin (Alabama), Laverne Dillew (Marquette), Jugger Earpe (Monmouth).

GREEN BAY—There is only one national championship football team and it belongs to Green Bay. The team that went through 12 straight games without defeat actually is owned by Green Bay.

The Green Bay Packers, the name under which the team still plays, first was organized in 1913 when a booming wartime industry outfitted a team of former college players. Although the industry long since has gone out of existence, the Green Bay Packers have continued in the football world. The Green Bay Football Corporation, made up of business men and city officials, was organized to continue the sport.

More than any other team in the professional league, Green Bay is a success story. It is a successful business, and it is a successful team. It is a team that has won 12 straight games without defeat.

LAWRENCE CAGERS TO MEET MILTON

Game Wednesday Night at New Gym Will Give Denney Slant on Team

Lawrence college cagers Tuesday night will wind up practice for the first game of the 1929-30 season, to be played Wednesday night in the new Alexander gymnasium with Milton college five as the opponent.

The game, while the first in the new gym is deemed a practice game, and with loss or draw is a means of giving Coach Arthur C. Denney a chance to look over his team against an outside opponent. The formal opening of the gym will be next Monday night when Beloit comes here.

Chances are Coach Denney will start his veteran combinations against the invaders Tuesday evening. For the first time the game is only a practice battle. Denney does not like to lose. If his veterans perform well enough then the reserves will get a chance to show their stuff.

And speaking of veterans does not imply one or two men on the Lawrence team. There are 11 or 12 chaps out for the Viking squad who have had at least one season's work under Coach Denney and that makes 11 or 12 veterans with which to start work.

Chicago Hockey Team to Play in Stadium

Chicago — (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks will play the balance of their National Hockey league schedule in the Chicago stadium, starting Sunday, Dec. 15.

With the Hawks in second place in the American group, Hockey has become so popular in Chicago that the Coliseum, their present home, is inadequate to handle the crowds.

Major Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the team, has signed a contract to use the stadium for 17 games with the Pittsburgh Pirates as the Black Hawks' first opponent in the new arena.

New Orleans — Ray Kiser, Oklahoma City, Okla., outpointed Milton Manigault, New Orleans, (10).

Associated Press Sports Editor NEW YORK — (AP) — Phil Scott, the gangling British heavy-weight champion, today was the possessor of a ring decision that proved nothing much of anything.

IOWA SUSPENSION TO HELP BIG TEN

Thisty Says Hawks Unfortunately Are the Victims of Investigation

Toledo — (AP) — Glenn Thistlethwaite, coach at the University of Wisconsin said on his arrival here yesterday that Iowa, suspended from the Big Ten, is "an unfortunate victim of an investigation which will do much to better conditions in the Western conference."

"It is just one angle of a big question which, I think, will result in much good for the conference," he said. "Personally, I have to see Iowa out of the conference. I have always enjoyed my contacts with that school and I think Bert Ingwersen, coach at Iowa is one of the finest men I know."

"You must remember," he went on, "that we coaches really know very little of the 'inside' of such Western conference business as the Iowa case. Of course, we hear things from time to time but the faculty committee investigating the case keeps things pretty well to itself."

Thistlethwaite came here to address the annual banquet given by the high school gridder by the East Toledo club.

St. Joseph junior high school will be asked to join the Fox River valley parochial junior high school athletic conference now being planned by Catholic school officials in the valley. Catholic schools from Marinette to Fond du Lac are included in the new plan.

A senior and junior high school conference are being planned by sponsors of the conferences. The senior group will include schools at Oshkosh, Marinette and Menasha with invitations being extended to several upper Michigan schools.

RADES IN AIR AS MAJOR LEAGUERS MEET IN NEW YORK

azy Vance Probably Will Feature in Swap Before Meetings End

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK—(AP)—This is a busy day for baseball magnates with meetings of the advisory board and the National League, any holder conversation in the older major out will be disposed of tomorrow. American League magnates turn for their own confab. Both of these meetings will be held in the immediate, and a joint session of the two leagues will be convened at a Baltimore on Thursday.

First and foremost on the program each circuit will be the disposal of the two 1929 pennants in an official way. The opinion seems to have become general that the Cubs will get a call from John Heydler's boys that the claims of Connie Mack will receive serious consideration. An American leaguer before any ampton is named. It is further sorted that Mr. Mack will lay claim the championship of the world.

With trade talk in the air as usual, the two major leagues have two acres of real business to transact—e of them of great moment to such as shivered in bleak stands in to September and early October is year. Both circuits are reported be willing to curtail the season about 183 playing dates, bringing a championship race to a close on September 27. The opening date, under this arrangement, would be resday, April 15.

The other problem before the magnates is the decision of whether to play by radio. The American league reported to be opposed to the radio, while the National somewhat up in the air on the question. Phil Ball of the Browns is the leading opponent of the microphone; William Wrigley, of the Cubs, the leading proponent.

Of all the trades reported in the aking, that involving Dazzy Vance, with five or six National League clubs, may be the one most likely to be concluded at the meetings. The azzler disappointed the Brooklyn management last summer after de- anding and receiving a one-year contract for $25,000. The once great ght-hander will hardly want any ss next season, and the Brooklyn ad admittedly would just as soon e him draw it from some other ub. From the standpoint of any ub which might trade for Vance, e Dazzler may have one or two od years left in him. The likeli- is strong enough to cause hands to reach for pocket-books, at any ent.

Daniel Howley, fiery pilot of the yuvenated Reds (rejuvenated in the siness office at least) was early on ground with offers for Larry enton and Frisch, but with no on of offering Eugie Cruz as sacrifice in any deal he may en- er. John McGraw doubtless ould give Benton and other play- g strength for Cruz, but Howley on't give him the chance.

If one big player swap develops on the conferences in progress the meetings will have been a success on a newspaper standpoint.

Meanwell After 10th Title

DR. WALTER E. MEANWELL

By STANLEY KALISH
Associated Press Staff Writer
MADISON—(AP)—Twenty years in basketball has not robbed Dr. Walter E. Meanwell of any of his enthusiasm, or his ambition to win championships.

The dynamic little coach of the University of Wisconsin has only two regulars back, yet he expects to up among the conference leaders this year. Meanwell has been at Wisconsin 16 years.

Meanwell's Wisconsin five tied with Michigan for last year's flag. Nine times his teams have been out in front, seven in the Western conference and twice in the Missouri valley where he coached the University of Missouri. Meanwell teams won 229 games and lost 61.

He was a pioneer in teaching the five-man defense and short passing game. On only three occasions has a Meanwell-coached squad finished below third in a conference race. No coach in the Western conference, where he is the dean of them, approaches his record.

Sports Question Box

Question—Sometimes an amateur boxer is forced to fight three times in one evening. I maintain that three such contests for the amateur is just as trying as a ten round contest engaged in by a professional. Am I right?

Answer—Yes. The amateur uses up more energy than the experienced, and better trained professional so that the amateur really does more work in three short contests than the pro does in one longer fight.

Question—Score was tied, 6-6, and in the last half of the tenth inning a home team got runners on second and third. The batter hit the ball for three bases and both runners scored. What was the final score?

Answer—The final score was seven to six.

Question—Can you give any data as to what percentage of times a

RULING ON ALIEN CASE MAY AFFECT JAP PACT

Los Angeles—(AP)—A decision which barred efforts of the United States immigration authorities from deporting Mrs. Haruyo Suzuki, wife of Miss Suzuki, wealthy Los Angeles importer and merchant, was handed down today by Federal Judge William P. James.

The proceedings against Mrs. Suzuki were begun two years ago, and immigration authorities stated they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Judge James said that the husband of a Japanese alien woman can establish the fact that he is really engaged in trade here. His wife has a right to remain with him.

The legal question involved was centered around the treaty of 1911 with Japan, which admitted Japanese merchants and the exclusion act of 1924, which excluded alien Japanese living at or after 1924.

Observers here said the decision would affect the Japanese immigration question as found in Pacific coast ports, as it was the first test of the law as it affected the wives of Japanese admitted under the treaty of 1911.

CALLAHAN HELPS GATHER CONSTRUCTION DATA

Madison—(AP)—John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction is aiding governor in surveying building operations and house occupation in Wisconsin, looking toward a report on these sources of economic soundness in the state's structure. The reports will coincide with land-economic survey reports now being gathered.

He has sent to county and city superintendents of education a letter telling them he expects to have made a further survey of survey of educational conditions in the schools of the state this coming winter. Superintendent A. A. Thompson, or some other member of the department will call upon you soon to discuss the matter in detail.

However, I shall appreciate having a survey made of the new houses built in your district during the past year as well as all the vacant houses. You can help me by filling out the class room teachers. I should like the approximate location of these new houses placed on a rough outline of the school district. If you can arrange to collect this material soon the superintendent will be glad to pay the cost of the survey.

In an annual letter to county superintendents the state education board asks them to have their teachers prepare an outline of their districts and place on each a square representing the location of each house. This standing vacant that should be occupied.

The superintendent of education is asked to place in boxes representing houses built this year.

AGE IS FAST ONE, SCHOOL IS TOLD

Safety Students Hear Talk by William Rainey Bennett of Chicago

Menasha—Those in attendance at the Safety school at Memorial building Monday evening heard a humorous talk by William Rainey Bennett of Chicago. The speaker kept his audience in an uproar much of the time with funny stories which he used to send home some point he wished to emphasize.

He claimed the present age is an age of speed and that it has brought all kinds of changes in its trail. The youth and the flapper were among the first to be trimmed and yet he said in commenting on the schools that no audience he enjoys more to address than one of high school students because of the interest they manifest.

Speaking of the women of a generation or two ago he said that the hoopskirts and bustles had gone, never to return. He said he couldn't imagine three or four women wearing hoopskirts attempting to go into a Ford. As for men, he said they could accomplish anything they set out to do providing they had the backbone and would not recognize defeat.

The great American men whose success in life was due he claimed to his method of advertising and the love they were lavished for the part they are taking in every day life. The life of a farmer is no longer one of drudgery as his farm machinery is now so constructed that he can ride while cultivating his fields, he said. Neal Spoor, secretary of the Hardware Products company, presided at the meeting.

EXPECT SENATE TO O. K. COURT ENTRY

of the league of nations. Mr. Hoover in his recent message to congress declared that signing the world court protocol was not a step in the direction of the league of nations.

OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

The importance of America's signature to the world court protocol is a character. There are no questions about to be submitted to the court and the senate would have to decide anyway by two-thirds vote whether any question should ever be submitted. The signature of the United States means nevertheless that America joins other nations in a world-wide movement for the support of international law. The Kellogg-Briand pact, the only other universal agreement looking toward the maintenance of peace with which America has identified herself since the league of nations was established.

Naturally the league of nations advocates feel encouraged because the world court idea was originally originated in the covenant of the league and if reservations satisfactory to the United States on the world court are ratified by all practical objections to the league may some day be worked out in the form of reservations which two-thirds of the senate could accept. Nothing of this kind is being suggested at the moment by pro-league groups but the possibilities will not fail to mention it.

FEW REAL OBJECTIONS

The very vote that is taken on ratification of the world court protocol will be significant because it will show how few are the real objectors to world-wide cooperation to the medium of the league of nations machinery.

A question whether the original League reservations to the league covenant would today be considered by the senate but it is known that many of the modifications made to the covenant in the last few years have been in the direction of satisfying American sentiment.

Mr. Hoover's policy of going ahead with the world court protocol is expected to strengthen the hand of the Kellogg-Briand treaties as well as the policies that are to be suggested to the forthcoming five-power naval conference. The United States has hitherto been in the position of asking European nations to join in cooperative movements for peace while she herself has failed to subscribe to the world court, which is regarded by European nations as the very basis of international morality.

The situation is expected to change now and Europe will derive much encouragement from the official presence of the United States at the international court of justice.

EMPLOYEES OF OIL COMPANY OFFERED ADVICE ON MARKET

Difference Between Speculation and Investment Is Explained

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(Financial Review and Outlook)—When the history of the break in stocks is written in later years and the influences that brought it to a sudden stop on Nov. 12 are recorded, it will be pointed out that one of the most spectacular and effective episodes of that period was the bid put in the market by the Rockefeller interests for 1,000,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock at 50.

The turning point dates from the announcement reaching the floor of the stock exchange in the early afternoon that the Rockefeller stock ready to invest $50,000,000 in the shares of their company and that they had put up a barrier against any further slaughter of it either through short selling or through "panic" liquidation. They were never required to take up stock at their limit, for the Rockefeller stock was many points higher and today was selling at approximately 70.

The management of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey had not only the interest of the general market in mind on that critical day but also the position of the 24,000 employees who were also shareholders in the company. Many of them were deeply distressed by the steady fall in the price of their shares and by the rumors circulated throughout Wall Street and even among the employees themselves at the refineries and out in the field.

FEW ARE AFFECTED

Along with many other corporations the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey agreed to assist their employees who might be in distress as a result of the market break. However, only 125 of the 24,000 of approximately 24,000, or one-half of one per cent, appeared before the committee to take advantage of the financial assistance offered to them.

Obviously as an effort to clear the minds of their employees of theories that they might have regarding investments in stocks of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, "The Lamp," in Monday's issue, has a most significant and unusual feature under the title of "Investing versus stock gambling." It is apparent that this is addressed to those who are working for the Rockefeller company and among whom are many foreigners who have first use of capital in the purchase of securities had been under the plan by which they were permitted to subscribe to the shares of their company. This article deals with the differences between legitimate investment and trading in stocks on margin or making purchases of securities on a scale in excess of the ability of the buyer to take care of them in a crisis.

THREE KINDS OF TRADES

The article deals with three kinds of trades "indulged in by people who hope to make money in the stock market." It characterizes the first as "essentially a gamble," which is based on a tip that a stock is due to rise and in which the individual utilizes his credit with the broker "as far as he can stretch it. The second is classified as a speculation. It is predicted on good information that a stock is worth more than its current price and seems likely to be favored by developments surrounding it. This stock is bought on credit. It is often built up to much larger than the initial investment. It is, according to the "Lamp," the speculator usually keeps in close touch with the market and seldom sees the certificates which he buys and sells."

In the third trade, the strict investment operation appears in which the buyer employs "surplus funds and pays for his stock or bonds outright. In this position he can use the stock as collateral for a loan if he so desires. This is apparently what some of the employee holders of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock did when the shares of their company dropped to 50 and they were advised to average at that figure.

WELL WORTH READING

This treatise on speculation and investment which the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey sponsors, and which might be said to be the Rockefeller philosophy of markets, is well worth reading by every individual who has had unfortunate experiences in securities in the last two months. It might be used as a copy for some future textbook to replace an expired edition of a volume by one of the financial editors of the New York newspapers thirty years ago, and known as the "A. B. C. of Wall Street." It comes out at a time when it clears many of the questions at issue that are being discussed on all sides as to where the dividing line is located and what are the legitimate functions of stock exchanges in the world business.

What we meant to apply to and to educate a small body of men and women in one of America's largest corporations, it is also a valuable document that should be in the hands of the 15,000,000 or so holders of securities in the United States.

of Minneapolis, were arrested. Incently Hoover's address, according to the auto license division here, is 2424 W. 1st, not White House, Washington, D. C.

ANNULLMENT AND DIVORCE NEEDED TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Chicago—(AP)—Mrs. Caroline Robinson Doss has asked her marriage to James Doss annulled so she may remarry him.

Mrs. Doss was married in 1921 to James H. Robinson, an army flier. In 1924 she sued him for divorce, but before the suit was called for hearing she received a newspaper clipping reporting the death of Robinson in a plane crash.

The divorce action was dropped, and in 1927 she was married to Doss. Last summer, in Oklahoma, Mrs. Doss met the husband she believed dead. The annulment of her marriage to Doss is the first step in her effort to straighten matters out. Her attorney said she obviously filed a new suit to divorce Robinson and that she plans to remarry Doss as soon as she wins a divorce.

PUBLISHERS MOVE TO PREVENT RAISE IN NEWSPRINT COST

Plan Appeal to Federal Government to Consider Possible Redress

New York—(AP)—Resistance of the American Newspaper Publishers Association to a proposed increase of $5 a ton in the price of newsprint paper moved in two directions today.

One was a decision to inform paper manufacturers that no justification was seen for the increase. The other was a resolution requesting the paper committee and the board of directors to take up with federal authorities the question of possible redress through federal government action.

Plans to combat the increase from $55 to $60 a ton, proposed by Canadian paper manufacturers who are members of the newly formed newsprint institute, took form yesterday at a special convention attended by more than 100 newspaper publishers from various parts of the United States and Canada.

They were unanimous in their denunciation of the increase and various lines of action were proposed. Influencing action by the Clayton act and the Sherman Anti-Trust act. None of these proposals was formally adopted. Edward H. Butler, publisher of the Buffalo News, president

FARM BOARD JOINS COTTON MARKETING STUDY OF CO-OPS

Meets Representatives of Growers' Association This Week

BY FRANK I. WELLER
Farm Editor

(Associated Press Feature Service)

Washington — (AP) — With three national marketing boards underway, the federal farm board again turns its attention to cotton.

On December 13 and 14 it will confer at Memphis with representatives of the state cotton exchange growers' associations which are members of the American Cotton Growers' exchange.

The board has had little to say about the marketing of cotton since it was formed in 1926. It is now to lay the foundation for a national marketing organization. It has not been discussed. The announcement says the committee will study plans "for the future of cooperative marketing of cotton."

FACE CRITICISM

Coupled to this, it is reported that certain of the banks have found the state more critical of group banking than was expected. The political issue was pointed out as being at white heat in many cities, including the capital city of the state.

Finances here point out further that the drop in the values of bank stocks, particularly that of the First Wisconsin which is now quoted at 15 to 18 compared to the high point of 135 when banks were drawn into the merger, has done much to turn away banks which otherwise would have joined the group.

T. R. Herty, president of the First National bank of Madison, and A. O. Pannack, president of the Commercial National bank of the same city, refused to comment on the report that their institutions would withdraw.

Flashes of Life

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York—The 3,350,000 new dress patterns of the Junior League, showing other things, has accompanied the new patterns for babies and dogs. Society girls may check the pets of the grand floor. The fifth floor is a nursery for the new line of baby clothes.

London—What is the meaning of the new dress? Notwithstanding the fact that the British queen's wardrobe, King Christian and Queen Alexandra, of Denmark, failed to delay the new dress. They are good colors," said a high official.

New York—Miss Elizabeth Pennell, in her "Life and Letters of Joseph Pennell," describes how her husband kept his whiskers, but lost a neighborhood. The artist was escorted by Queen Alexandra at a Whistler exhibition. "What do you propose to do with them?" asked the queen regarding certain drawings she admired. "Keep them, ma'am," answered Pennell. Persons who overheard later told Pennell he had lost his whiskers. Some etiquette required him to say, "They are yours, ma'am." The biography is published by Little Brown.

Washington—Uncle Sam's perfect 36 has bust of that measurement, 31 inch waist and 39 inch hips; his perfect 34 has a 23-inch waist and 31-inch hips. The bureau of standards, after a conference with manufacturers, has issued sizes for dress patterns.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

CHAPTER 25
RITA GILMORE

MISS GILMORE and Ray were sitting at a white-capped table in a restaurant not far from the club.

As Ray gave the order he wondered what this girl could want with him. What was her purpose in bringing him here?

"I guess you thought it was necessary of me to speak to you the way I did," she remarked presently. "Not is, I was asking Mr. Foster the name of that time you boys were playing tonight, the one with a solo in it. He said it was 'The Grievin' Blues,' and that you had written it. I want you to try it out as a special when we change our bill next week."

"Why, I'd be delighted..." She smiled at him: her teeth were very white and dazzling.

"Dandy of you, Mr. Lowther. Might I ask if it's been published?" "No, worse luck. Can't say that publishers have swamped me with offers, exactly."

"Oh, but they will," she prophesied. "I know sure-fire stuff when I hear it. I sang 'She's My Broadway Cutie' when all the smarties were turning up their noses at it. Now look at it, the mainstay of more than one show that would flop without it. If your 'Grievin' Blues' catches on next week I guess I can get it published. I know several fellows in the business—been mixed up with their crowd most ever since I've been here."

"You're not a New Yorker, then?" She laughed with naive pleasure. "Didn't you know that original New Yorkers are a species of individuals fast becoming extinct? I'm a hick, like most everybody else in this town. But I get away with it—the Broadway stuff—don't you think so?"

"I'll say you do. I thought you were enough of a New Yorker to have been born in the Bronx. Might I ask how long you've been here?"

"Certainly—but it's foolishness to expect the truth. But I'll tell you. Five years—but I got away with twenty. I came from a small mid-western town, crazy with the notion of making a quick jump to fame through the movies. All I got was a fine was that copy you me making love grimaces at a blank piece of cardboard. You should have seen that test! That decided me to go into the song and dance business."

"She laughed with a touch of derision. "Come on, we'll best be going. I can't afford to lose the couple hours' sleep I go get."

As she spoke she opened a jeweled bag that hung on her finger and, having re-powdered her nose, she rose to her feet.

Reaching the street, she was just in time to catch Ray's snailing a taxi.

"What's all this about? Didn't I know I was stepping out with a milk-ma'am. I only live a few blocks from here."

Broadway, at four that morning, seemed to Ray like a sleepy kitten stretching its claws after a short but refreshing nap. As they walked Rita chatted on gaily, about herself mostly, a subject which frankly intrigued her. At the door of her apartment hotel she held out her hand.

"It's settled then that I'm to sing 'The Grievin' Blues' if you come round early to the club tomorrow night we'll try it out."

Ray grinned—his old boyish grin that somehow he had forgotten of late, and as he walked homeward he found himself whistling for the first time in months.

A friendship begun in such an unconventional manner is bound to do one of two things—either to progress rapidly or stop dead after the preliminary try-out. Theirs went ahead like a smoldering haystack.

Ray discovered he had been lonely for feminine companionship. This loneliness had demonstrated itself in a growing lack of enthusiasm for his composing. But now he found a new pep infusing itself into his work and he would look forward eagerly to the moment when he could play over to Rita some melody that he had been working on during the day.

"Dandy of you to give me so much of your time," Ray once remarked. "There must be crowd of fellows who would gladly treat you to the Plaza if you gave them half a chance."

"Sure there are," retorted Rita—she never had suffered from a lack of conceit—"but I never knew but one rich man in town now. Pete Anderson's name. He originated in my home town and has made a fortune out of floor lamps. Now he's interested in the theatrical business. I tell him he might as well lose his money in that way as in any other. Next time he's in town I'll see that you meet him."

Ray thanked her and they continued their meal. The more he saw of Rita, the better he liked her. Later, when they were alone, her cultivated Broadway manner had been falling from her. He found that beneath her apparent sophistication lurked a refreshing naïveté.

On the night she was to try out the "Grievin' Blues" in public, Rita was more nervous than she had ever been before. Waiting for the call in the narrow stuffy dressing room, she paced about in a high state of tension, behaving in a manner totally to her.

But once in the center of the dance floor, she regained her composure—even so far as to turn towards the orchestra and deliberately catch Ray's eye. A smile of mutual encouragement passed between them.

Then she started singing: "I could not believe / That I could ever grieve / Until I got those grievin' grievin' / 'Cause I've leavin' blues."

"Rita's sure hitting them tonight. Better than I've ever seen her," remarked Dan, the floor manager, as he watched her.

And he was right. Rita threw all her art into making that song a success and any one knew how to get as the heart of a New York audience she did—combining pep with sob stuff in a way that never failed to put her number across.

She came to these lines: "Wind—wind—Blow my grievin' blues away. / Wind—wind—Blow my grievin' blues away. / Wind—wind—Blow my grievin' blues away. / Wind—wind—Blow my grievin' blues away."

You could almost hear the wind whistling through the tables. Afterwards she danced. She was like a packet of the crackers to which some one had suddenly lighted a fuse. The floor might have been red hot beneath her feet, for her silver sandals seemed scarcely to touch it.

The audience stopped talking to watch her. Even the claret glasses seemed miraculously to have died. The applause at the conclusion was gratifying, to say the least of it. She found herself bowing and bowing again; tears in her eyes, laughter on her lips. Suddenly, on a happy impulse, she sprang onto the platform and seized Ray by the hand, she pulled him right to the front of the stage.

That got them just the right touch of sentiment, and the applause intensified. Finally, to pacify them, she had to sing it again, and it was during this that Barbara, accompanied by Henderson, started to descend the steps that led to the supper room.

Barbara makes a drastic resolve in tomorrow's chapter.

STOCKS IRREGULAR AS TRADE SHIFTS BACK AND FORTH

U. S. Steel Leads Rally on Report of Increase in Un-filled Tonnage Report

BY STANLEY W. PRENSHIL (Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York—(AP)—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today in reflection of frequent shifts of speculative sentiment. The market opened irregularly lower, rallied sharply before the end of the first hour, then fell back to the level of the common and then rallied up and down to the afternoon with gains and losses. Trading showed a marked falling off in volume. U. S. Steel common, which ran up sharply yesterday on unconfirmed rumors of an early stock split-up and then plunged downward on the announcement that no directors' meeting was likely before the regular meeting on the last Tuesday of January, advanced 4 1/2 points to 134 1/2 but had difficulty in maintaining the gain. The monthly tonnage report showed an increase of nearly 35,000 tons in unfilled orders last month, the third successive increase but this was accounted for largely by the sharp curtailment in operations rather than from increased business. Railroad shares were in good demand with the increase from $7 to $8 in the annual rate on Virginian Railway. Pittsburgh and West Virginia was marked up five points. Union Pacific 4-1/2, New York Central 4 1/4, and Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, New York and Hartford, and "Katy" common advanced 3 to nearly 4 points. Activity and strength of St. Paul preferred was based on unconfirmed reports of dividend inauguration on that issue early next year. Public utilities also presented several points of strength, with National Telephone Western Union and American and Foreign Power in brisk demand. Detroit Edison was one of the few stock spots in that group.

Utah Copper which did not sell yesterday or last week, jumped 25 points on one sale. A. M. Byers ran up more than 7 points and Simmons and American Can extended their gains to four points.

The official rate for call money was again maintained at 4 1/2 per cent, with a plentiful supply of funds reported to be available. The time money market was firm.

Short covering brought gains of 3 to 5 points in popular trading favorites, including American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Radio, General Electric, Standard Gas and Electric and Columbia Carbon. The latter three, however, were checked by late selling. Late quotations, however, were mostly substantially above the previous close. The closing tone was irregular. Sales approximated 3,300,000.

TIGHTER MONEY RATES LIGHTENS BOND SALES

New York—(AP)—The seasonal stiffening of money rates continued to withhold buying orders from the bond market today, an exception being made in an exceptional thin market. Most of the changes in the early trading were fractional and a majority was on the down side.

Liberty fourth 4 1/2 moved briskly on a small decline. The tendency of the government group was downward, but volume in most instances was light.

Time loans were quoted nominally at 5 per cent flat for all maturities, representing an advance from yesterday's rates. It was said, however, that no money had been offered at the 4 3/4 per cent level on Monday, call funds and plentiful supply of the renewal rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

The small losses that resulted from the lack of interest covered all groups of domestic corporation securities. Rock Island 4s, Erie 4s, Southern Pacific 4 1/2s, and Virginian 5s declined less than half a point on the average, while Pullman 5s, Edco 5s, Baltimore and Ohio Gold 5s and a few other rails improved a shade. International Great Northern 6s, International 6s rose more than a point. Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s sagged half a point.

Convertible bonds made little change from the previous close, moving rather sluggishly.

STRONG BUYING BETTERS PRICES SHIPPERS AND PACKERS IN

Strong Competition for Hogs

BY STANLEY W. PRENSHIL (Associated Press Financial Editor)

Chicago—(AP)—Shippers and packers went out for hogs this morning at the start of the trade, and prices bounded up 10c above yesterday's average. Competition was keenest among the packers for weights running from 210 to 250 lb. which sold at $8.50 early, equaling the top of the day before easily, and ending around $9.00. Aside from the increased shipping demand, the most buoyant factor in the market is the sharp falling off of supplies, as compared with a week ago. Chicago has had $9,000 in these first two days, as against 100,000 for the same days last week, when prices were rising as much as they have yesterday and today.

Unfinished medium weight steers, predominated the run of fat cattle supplies this morning. The quality was very plain, and in the first hours of the market, packers showed little interest in anything on hand. Bidding was steady with the low time yesterday at the start, with most of the steers selling at less than $13.75. The 400 westerns were also of plain packers again had no direct. The 11 quality and remained uncollected. Markets had 4,000 fewer cattle today than last Tuesday, and Chicago also has a more normal run than it had yesterday with over 22,000.

Commission men were holding their choice light lambs at $13.25, but could find no takers at the start as the packers hesitated to go above $13.00. They were successful in getting plenty at the figure, which is in line with the general decline in price of all the early side. Feeders just with this figure. Feeders showed a promise of waking up after a long spell of unchanged conditions.

WHEAT IS HIGHER IN LATE TRADING ON CHICAGO MART

Highest Prices Are Not Maintained as Speculative Selling Appears

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN (Associated Press Market Editor)

Chicago—(AP)—Wheat prices developed notable rallying power in the late trading today, but speculators met with increased speculative selling and the top figures were not maintained. An outstanding feature was that the Liverpool wheat market today showed the widest difference over Chicago quotations which has been witnessed in many weeks. However, export business in North American wheat today lacked volume, amounting to but 70,000 bushels. Broadened trading which at times today not only wiped out gains in wheat prices but also forced the market sharply downward was based on a good deal on authoritative advice that although the amount of wheat on ocean passage is still 30,000,000 bushels less than the total a year ago, the market is expected to require fair amounts of wheat from now on. On the other hand, large stocks of wheat in North America are being continually emphasized in Europe. Especially in last part of the day, corn showed a firm undertone, with prices averaging higher, and wheat, though, was rather light. Oats were mainly governed by the action of the other grains.

FILM COLONY TURNS BACK MANY CARS AS STOCK CRASH CLIMAX

Dealers Receive Some 400 Machines from Stars and Lesser Stars

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1929, By Cine Press
Hollywood, Calif.—Some four hundred automobiles have been turned back to Hollywood and Los Angeles dealers by members of the film colony since the recent landslide in Wall street. Fallen stocks in New York would seem to be responsible for an epidemic of fallen arches in Hollywood.

The automobile were in process of purchase on the installment plan by the lesser luminaries and smaller job holders of the screen, who suffered at least a temporary poverty complex following the slump and decided to patronize street car companies even though a seven cent fare has been approved by the higher courts.

But many of the studios are quite a distance from any street car stop, and the grounds of the larger companies are so far flung that even inside the gates private transportation is almost a necessity. Hitch-hiking from car-stop to gate and from gate to location, instead of walking thicker in chariots of their own, is a talent numerous supernumeraries are learning. They are also cultivating at street corners a look of wistful appeal calculated to reach the hardest hearted motorist.

It is bad enough to be at best only a rather dim star in the firmament, but to be a dim star with tired feet is awfully hard on one's art.

STARS LOSE, TOO

Some of the authentic planets of the screen also dropped a bit of money in the general debacle. Just to prove the old adage about lucky in love, unlucky in finance, John Gilbert was one of them. This fact has led to some speculation as to whether he and his bride, Ina Claire—who recently set up separate establishments temporarily because of incompatible temperaments cannot dwell beneath the same roof while working on two separate pictures—might not economize by merging their households. Thus far, however, the households continue to be separate.

No curtailment is apparent among movie producers as a result of the Wall street slump. Seemingly they feel the public still has loose money for entertainment. But personal curtailments appear here and there. Thrift week note is that among the luxuries eliminated by an official of one film corporation was his personal press agent, whose salary of $300 a month suddenly began to loom large.

Meanwhile, those lesser luminaries who didn't take a filler in stock are beginning to feel lucky enough to afford the cars of those who did. Also some who just "felt" poor and who find their income still continues have begun shopping for less expensive limousines. Thus, from the car dealers' point of view, the economic situation remains about normal. And chiropractists as well as dealers in foot lotions, report that business is splendid.

GOVERNOR WANTS DATA ON IMPROVEMENT COSTS

A request for information concerning the cost of public buildings and other municipal improvements was received this week by Carl Becker, city clerk, from Governor Walter J. Krome.

The statistics sent to the governor by the city clerk included the total estimated cost of public buildings, other than school buildings, voted by the council for construction in 1929, $8,000; total amount of contracts already let, $8,000; amount of remaining contracts that will be let for construction in 1930, $50,000.

COUNTY TO SELL SNOW FENCE TO INDIVIDUALS

Frank Appleton, county highway commissioner, announced that a carload of fence had been received at the county garage and was ready for sale in small lots to individuals or towns in the county who desire to purchase the fence. The fence is to be sold at cost to individuals. The county board authorized the highway committee purchase a carload of fence to be sold to individuals in this manner. People desiring to purchase some of the fence may get in touch with Mr. Appleton.

Because the owner of a bus company gave $500 toward the renovation of a church at Boston Stemp, England, a miniature bus was placed on top of the edifice.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It's a mother's remedy to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is free to give prompt relief or money refunded.

CHERRY GROWERS MAY FORM CO-OP

Wisconsin, Michigan Growers Ask Farm Bureau for $2,500,000 Loan

Organization of Michigan and Wisconsin fruit growers into the Great Lakes Fruit Industries, Inc., is being contemplated, the Federal Farm Bureau was informed a few days ago when organizers of the proposed company asked the board for a loan of $2,500,000. If granted, the loan will be used to provide processing plants for canned fruit and warehouse facilities to fresh fruit raised by members of the cooperative association.

The purpose of the association will be to develop a program for marketing apples, pears, raspberries, grapes, cherries and other Michigan and Wisconsin fruits.

Wisconsin growers interested in the association are primarily cherry and apple growers on Door-co peninsula. They were represented at the conference by H. W. Ulsperger, general manager Door County Fruit Growers Union and Moulton B. Goff, president of the union.

REPORT FIVE CASES OF SCARLET FEVER

Monthly Record of City Nurse Is Submitted to Authorities

Five cases of scarlet fever, four of asthama, and three of influenza are listed on the monthly report of Miss Marie Kaarboom, city nurse. Two cases of whooping cough, one of chicken pox, one tuberculosis, one diabetes, three victims of mental disease, five persons deficient mentally, and eight suffering from skin diseases also were reported by the nurse.

Social service work was done with 15 individuals, five received child welfare assistance, and three mothers' pensions were obtained. The nurse had 27 office interviews, made 44 phone calls, and sent out 49 letters and pamphlets.

MILK INDUSTRY USES HUNDREDS OF SCALES

Madison—(AP)—It takes about $400,000 worth of scales to carry on Wisconsin milk, cream and butter purchasing and weighing-out business the state department of agriculture and markets believes.

Last year there were approximately 2,500 places where milk and cream were purchased in Wisconsin. Importance of correct scales in each of these places is recognizable in view of the fact that the farmer's cream checks are measured by the amount of milk he weighs in.

About 4,000 scales are used in fare assistance, and three mothers' pensions were obtained. The nurse had 27 office interviews, made 44 phone calls, and sent out 49 letters and pamphlets.

weighing milk and cream, about 2,300 for weighing butter and cheese and about 1,500 are used for testing creams purchased; 700 being used for weighing samples for moisture test in butter and analytical work on condensed milk.

DOCTORS have prescribed Pertussin more often than any other advertised cough remedy. It is safe!

Pertussin For Coughs

Son Reaps Fruits of Mother's Wisdom

Cleveland, Ohio—A quarter of a century has passed and a dietary change made by the mother of H. B. Kohorn, 2343 Hampton Road, Shaker Heights, for herself and her children, is still a standby in the family of Mr. Kohorn. This simple change has brought wonderful benefits to three generations, as Mr. Kohorn relates below:

"Twenty-five years ago my mother began serving Postum in our home and no other hot beverage has supplanted it."

Why custom continues
"There's a reason: Postum proved beyond the smallest measure of a doubt to be an ideal drink, both palatable and safe. A quarter of a century has passed since then and today, in my home, Postum is still the only hot drink served daily. My daughter, sixteen, has never known the caffeine habit. She loves Postum as her mother and I do."

You do not have to use Postum for years, however, in order to find these things out. You can prove the wonderful benefits of Postum in thirty days. Just eliminate caffeine from your diet for that length of time—drink Postum with your meals instead. See how quickly its flavor becomes your favorite. And notice how this mealtime drink improves your health. No sleeplessness, no nervousness, no headaches or indigestion follow Postum!

Postum is made from roasted whole wheat and bran, skillfully blended. There is no caffeine in Postum—no artificial stimulant of any kind. Nothing to get on your nerves, to repel sleep, or disturb digestion. Postum is safe, 100%.

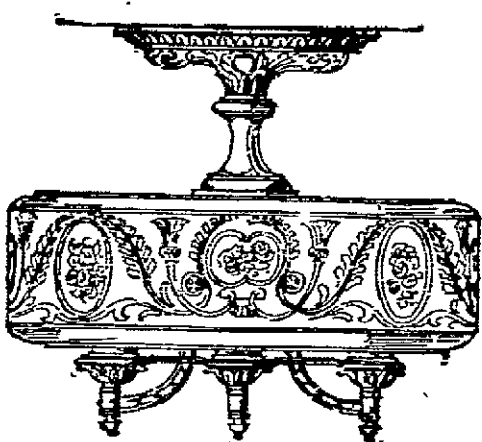

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both cost much less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order today—start the 30-day test! © 1929, G.F. Corp.

Short time proves benefits, too
Thousands of others besides Mr. Kohorn have testified to Postum's value over a period of many years. To them, Postum has proved itself the ideal mealtime drink. They have found its flavor delicious, whether they drink it plain or with cream added. More important still, they have found that this appetizing drink has no harmful after-effects. Postum has nothing but good news for the men and women who drink it!
